JOHN RAY MAYONE

Marines Will Honor Past Commander

Past Commandant of Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League, John Ray Mayone will be tendered a testimonial dinner by the League Saturday, April 27, at Gene Whalen's Ulster Landing Lodge, it was announced today by Edward Whalen, commandant.

City Marshal since February 14, 1954, John Ray Mayone has been active in veterans' affairs and is a charter member of the Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League. He has also served as service officer of both the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, Joyce-Schirick Post, 1386.

Non-Members Welcome
The dinner will be held at 7:30 p. m. and all members of the League will be contacted for reservations and others not members may make reservations by contacting the committee which is Albert Trowbridge, Robert Heaney and Harold DeGraff. Howard C. Shurtler, Ulster County Veterans' Service director, will serve as toastmaster.

A resident of Kingston all of his life, he has been identified with numerous businesses, was veteran's advisor in the Veterans' Service Agency and was also manager of the H. Gallop store downtown. Mr. Mayone served as chairman of the annual Marine Corps ball for eight years; is chairman of the firing squad for the Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars. He has served as parade master for the Kingston Veterans' Association and headed the committee which served in the return of war veterans who gave their life in the performance of duty.

Active in Drives
He has been membership chairman for the American Legion; program chairman for the VFW ball; Ulster county chairman for USO drives and has served as co-chairman in YMCA fund drives and as chairman of the Kingston Housing Procurement Committee.

Mr. Mayone also is a member of Loyola Ignatius Post, Catholic War Veterans; BPO Elks; Kingston Council, Knights of Columbus; Loyal Order of Moose; St. Joseph's Holy Name Society and the Kingston Little League Association in which he has taken an active part.

Committee Asks Funds For Planning in City

A city appropriation for professional planning was endorsed by the recently formed Mayor's Advisory Committee at a meeting last night in the city court room, city hall.

Mayor Frederick H. Stang, who presided, said he hoped that the committee would be able to correlate and crystallize the thoughts and work of many groups and agencies interested in the city's growth, and that it would pass on its findings and suggestions to the Kingston Planning Board.

Cost Is $25,750

Cost of a professional planning would be $25,750. It would extend for a two-year period and be financed by a five-year bond issue.

The city, the mayor said, is experiencing growing pains, and he was thankful for the interest and cooperation of those attending, who, he said, represented a broad cross-section of interests.

To Form 3 Districts

Three general districts, with the head of each businessman's unit as chairman, will be formed the mayor said.

The Advisory Committee will be divided into six major subcommittees as follows: (1) Area Relationships, (2) Codes, (3) Education and Publicity, (4) Rehabilitation, (5) Social Welfare and (6) Traffic and Parking.

Each sub-committee will be asked to make a list of all things which they think should be done regardless as to how trivial they may seem at first, and submit this information to the entire group for their consideration.

Must Look Ahead

Mayor Stang said that any plans for the future should be made for the situation which may exist 20 years from now. He pointed out that the Kingston Planning Board agreed that the services of professional planning consultants are needed and should be engaged to prepare a Master Plan for the city. After having interviews with six firms of planning consultants, the firm of Edwin S. Voorhis and Son, Inc., was recommended.

Allen Michelson of the Voorhis firm, who had been invited to the meeting, explained his firm's proposal as to items which would be included in their study of Kingston and the Master Plan they would prepare. Basically they would include the following: (1) a comprehensive population analysis, (2) Economic base analysis, (3) Land use inventory, future land use plan and land use map, (4) a complete circulation, traffic and parking study, (5) Utility plan; including water supply, sewage facilities, drainage, etc., and (6) a community facilities plan, including public buildings, schools, parks, recreational areas, hospitals and health facilities as well as religious and cultural facilities.

Urges Coordination

Mr. Michelson said there were uncertainties of financial support for regional or area planning under present state and federal laws and regulations. He noted the need for coordinating any key facilities with adjacent (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Crew Leaders Are Named for Census

Crew leader who will direct 101 enumerators for the federal census in Ulster county were named today by G. Paul Sylvestre of the temporary census bureau's field office in Poughkeepsie.

Crew leaders for the county are: Mrs. Grace Wojciechowski, Mrs. Winifred Petro and Mrs. Janet Lasher, City of Kingston; Theodore Niehus, towns of Ulster and Rosendale; Mrs. Mabel Myer, towns of Hurley, Woodstock and Marlborough; Mrs. Audrey Gregorio, town of Lloyd; Benjamin H. Matteson, town of New Paltz and Plattekill; Mrs. Ruth Smith, town of Saugerties; and George E. Betz, Ellenville. Each leader will supervise from 10 to 15 enumerators. The census has been requested by local governments for establishing new official population figures to be used in computing state-assistance payments.

Census-taking is to start April 1, after crew leaders have recruited and trained enumerators.

CAUGHT AFTER BANK ROBBERY—Police officers search Marion Stevenson (right), 37, after he was captured in a gun battle in Hollis, N. Y. Police say that Stevenson, an ex-convict, took between five and 10 thousand dollars from the Reliance Federal Savings and Loan Association branch office in Hollis and fled. Stevenson was captured within a few blocks of the bank. (NEA Telephoto)

Gas Leak Is Listed As Cause Baptist Church Is Guttled by Flames

Eight persons, including a fireman, were injured—none seriously—as a result of two gas explosions which started fires that demolished a small restaurant and heavily damaged an adjacent rooming house and one-story church building in mid-town Poughkeepsie early Thursday evening.

Fire Chief Irving Merrick said that apparently a leak in one of the gas lines of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. caused the blasts. A spokesman for the utility company in Poughkeepsie today verified that theory. Damage was not estimated.

Capt. Joseph J. Farrell of the Poughkeepsie Fire Department told The Freeman this morning that Chief Merrick was at the scene investigating.

Diner Demolished

Gay's Dinette, 332-A Mill street, was demolished by fire; a three-story, brick-wood joist rooming house, adjacent to the restaurant, and a one-story church were heavily damaged by the explosions and fire, Capt. Farrell said.

The concussion "blew out" a display window of the Electra Supply Co., Inc., 331 Mill street, which is located across the street from the restaurant. A spokesman for the company, which deals in electrical supplies and equipment, told The Freeman today "there was no damage to merchandise. Only fixtures in the display window were damaged, he said, "and business is going on as usual."

Flames Get Church

The Friendly Baptist Church, adjacent to the restaurant, was gutted by flames, it was reported. It was formerly a garage and had been converted into a house of worship about a year ago.

Injured and listed in "fair" condition today at St. Francis Hospital are:

Miss Agnes McFarland, 46, of 36 Conklin street, operator of the restaurant, lacerations of the right arm, left leg and multiple abrasions.
Matthew McCabe, 72, a resident of the rooming house at 334 Mill street, injuries to the right arm, multiple abrasions and contusions. He also suffered from smoke inhalation, the hospital said, and Enos Merritt, 65, of 177 North Grand avenue, an employee of the Schatz Federal Bearing Co., multiple abrasions of face and (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Explanation Starts On Consolidation

A series of articles on consolidation of rural school districts in the area with the Kingston city school system starts in The Freeman today to present the various phases of the proposal.

Today's topic is: Greater Kingston School District—What Is It?

The articles have been written by Norman Hammond of Lake Katrine, one of five people actively interested in consolidation.

Four others serving as editors of the articles are: Roy Feddes, Ruby, chairman of Consolidation Committee; Dan Morehouse, Lake Katrine, chairman of public relations committee; Mrs. James Forster, Sawkill and Henry Hopper, Hurley.

Today's article appears on page 11.

Offers Pumper if Hurley Area Forms Fire District

A Sanford fire engine formerly a part of the Woodstock Fire Department equipment, sold at public bid last Wednesday night to Bernard T. Smith, Stony Hollow garage proprietor, may go back into service if the residents of that area of the town of Hurley form a fire district.

The 1931 Sanford pumper was sold Wednesday to Mr. Smith who submitted a bid of $350. He said today he would donate the pumper if the citizens would form a fire company.

Two other bids, each for $280 were received by the Woodstock department for the Sanford

$1,866,712 Spent Report Given on Welfare

Disbursements through the Ulster County Department of Public Welfare for the year 1956 totaled $1,866,712.42, according to a report filed with the Board of Supervisors by Commissioner Edward E. Murray. The total 1956 budget for welfare was $1,922,430.

Reimbursements from federal and state funds amounted to $1,108,299.60 and county share of recoveries transferred to the general fund, refunds and contribution payments by private patients at the New Paltz and Kingston infirmaries, revenue from the county farm and levies for hospitalization, etc., from towns and the City of Kingston, amounted to a total of $300,377.78 for a total revenue to the Department of $1,408,677.38.

Old Age Assistance

Old age assistance granted for 1956 was $836,663.66, of which $165,786.41 was in the form of infirmity care, 33,455 days, at the New Paltz and Kingston infirmaries.

Old age assistance expenditures were by far the largest of any of the Welfare Department costs. These included a total of $288,921.87 for medical and hospital costs. Doctors were paid $52,029.85 for services in welfare cases; dentists $639; drugs and prosthetic devices cost $41,231.99; convalescent and nursing homes were paid $126,777.25 for care; hospitals received $63,504.45; tumor clinic $212.48 and ambulance and taxi costs were $4,506.85.

866 Cases Average

The average number of active cases per month on the old age assistance roll was 866 and the average cost per case per month, including infirmity care, was $80.51.

County farm sales amounted to $2,737.06 and the market value of farm products used at the County Home and infirmaries was reported at $6,839.65. Miscellaneous receipts were $98.99, making a total revenue from the County Farm of $9,675.70 for 1956.

Reimbursements

Federal reimbursement for old age assistance amounted to $311,378.67 and the state's reimbursement to the cost was $244,933.10.

Aid to the blind disbursements for 1956 was $12,808.15. In addition to this infirmity care valued at $2,927.92, 598 days, was given. Thus the actual value of assistance given the blind was $15,736.07. The average number of active cases was 15 and the average cost per case was $87.42.

Federal aid to the blind amounted to $6,023.69 and the state reimbursement was $5,391.67.

Disabled Get $144,261

Aid to disabled was given for a total of $144,261.02. The average active cases per month was 148 and the average cost per case was $81.23. Non-medical assistance granted was $64,344.98, medical and hospital costs were $55,089.09 and care given at the New Paltz and Kingston infirmaries at the state computed rate, 4922 days, had a value of $24,826.95. Aid to disabled reimbursements from the federal moneys was $52,673.57 and the state aid was $44,187.65.

332 Children on Roll

Aid to dependent children assistance granted totaled $166,130.15. Non-medical assistance granted amounted to $140,438.42 and the medical and hospital case cost was $25,691.73. The average number of children on (Continued on Page 11, Col. 5)

Druggists Report Salk Shortage in Kingston

A spot check of local drug stores today disclosed local druggists, like most throughout the nation were without a supply of Salk polio vaccine.

Only one drug store in Kingston was found in the spot check to have a supply, and that was very limited. With a supply of about 500 shots, the druggist said he was "portioning" it out.

Production Reduced

The shortage throughout the nation came about when manufacturing concerns closed down or reduced their production during the winter months when the demand fell off.

Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave, county health commissioner, said a sudden upswing in the demand for the vaccine left the manufacturers without an adequate supply and the shortage probably would not be relieved until about April 15. It is expected there will be an ample supply after that time.

Exhausted Supply

One druggist explained that there had been a slackening of demand during the winter months, then a campaign urging administering of the vaccine had produced an upswing and many who received their shots last spring became eligible for booster shots. With production off and the demand increasing the available supply was quickly exhausted.

Of the drug stores checked only one had any Salk vaccine on hand. It requires 30 days to make the vaccine and from 60 to 90 to make control tests before the manufacturers can release it to the trade. Manufacturing has been commenced and a large supply will become available about April 15, it was said.

Surgeon General LeRoy E. Burney told a House Government Operations subcommittee yesterday that it would be "difficult if not impossible to forecast the current shortage." He said however the health service had failed to foresee the huge demand.

Some for Emergency

However, druggists feel that the situation should have been anticipated and sufficient stocks on hand to meet the spring demands. Salk vaccine is a "dated" product which is carried under

Craft Was Bound for Jap Field Vast Hunt Made Over Wide Area

Tokyo, Saturday, March 23 (AP)—One of the greatest air-sea searches the Far East has ever seen swung into its second day today for 67 Americans on a U. S. military transport plane which disappeared just before reaching Japan.

More than 70 planes and about a dozen Japanese and American ships were poised to criss-cross thousands of square miles of the Pacific Ocean southeast of Japan. Cloudy skies and rain squalls which limited visibility yesterday gave promise of lifting.

Hope Dims

Hope dimmed after the first day's search failed to find the plane or survivors in the 120-mile wide corridor stretching 300 miles southeast of Tokyo where the plane was believed to have gone down early Friday. Nevertheless the search continued through the night.

Thirty-foot swells also hampered the rescue ships. The search area was to be expanded today to cover approximately 75,000 square miles.

Started From Coast

Some Japanese aviation experts speculated the plane might have crashed on one of a chain of volcanic islands in the vicinity. One of them is Mt. Mihara, a 2,470-foot active volcano into which a Japan air line plane crashed April 9, 1952, killing all 37 persons aboard.

The four-engine C97, military version of the Boeing Stratocruiser, left Wake Island Thursday afternoon for Tokyo on the last leg of a flight from Travis Air Base near San Francisco, Calif.

(In Washington, the Pentagon said today the plane took off from Travis at 8:30 a. m., Pacific Standard Time, Tuesday.) The air force said 57 passengers and a crew of 10 were aboard the plane, with the passengers including 27 air force personnel; 17 army and 10 navy men; 2 civilian government employees, both men; and a woman military dependent, presumably the wife of a serviceman stationed in Japan.

The crew, which included at least one woman, all were members of the air force. The plane was operated by the Military Air Transport Service (MATTS).

Was on Schedule

The plane's last reported position was 200 miles southeast of the big MATS terminal in Tokyo, at 12:15 a. m. (10:15 a. m. EST Thursday). The radio report gave no indication of any trouble and the plane was expected in Tokyo on schedule, two hours later.

The Air Force said the plane had enough fuel for only about 3½ hours flying past its scheduled arrival time.

As soon as the plane was overdue, a sea and air search was launched in the pre-dawn darkness. Life rafts aboard the plane were equipped with flares and flashlights and most rafts aboard transpacific planes carry eboard (Continued on Page 11, Col. 4)

Model Home Will Be Open Saturday

Hendrick A. Wolter, president of Ulster Homes Inc., Ulster county home developer, announces opening of the Sweetbriar Deluxe, a new model in National Home Corporation's 1957 line of custom homes at Brookside Acres, Zena road, town of Woodstock Saturday at 1 p. m.

This is one of the new National homes specifically designed as a result of last year's Women's Conference on Housing in Washington, D. C. and being widely publicized in this month's Life, Fortune, Home Furnishings, Bride's magazine, House Beautiful, Living for Young Housemakers and McCall's magazines.

It was also featured on the Dave Garraway "Today" program last Tuesday. The nationwide survey showed the public, and the housewives in particular, want more space in living and dining areas, more move-about space and convenience features in kitchen and work areas, more closets, more storage space, better traffic flow, better window and door arrangements, plus a bath and a half. All of these (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Denies Loan Knowledge

Washington, March 22 (AP)—Frank W. Brewster testified today he has no knowledge of any loans by the Western Conference of Teamsters to Dave Beck, the union's international president.

Beck has said publicly that he did borrow—but has since repaid—$300,000 to $400,000 of union money without paying interest or offering security.

100 Routed in Fire

Chicago, March 22 (AP)—A fast-moving, spectacular fire swept through sections of the block square city-county building in the Loop last night, routing more than 100 persons, including the mayor.

More than a score of persons were led or carried to safety, many of them down ladders, from the 1-story structure. Included were several women who were trapped in upper floors.

The extra-alarm fire was confined to the extreme northwest corner of the building on the second and third floors, the city hall half of the structure. City offices are located in the west half of the 48-year-old building. Cook county offices in the east half.

28 Persons Hurt, 78 Arrested in Month, Is Report

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren's report for February, presented to the Board of Police Commissioners yesterday, showed 28 persons injured in 18 traffic mishaps and 78 arrests made for the month.

Of the arrests 35 were for violations of the city traffic code, 20 for violations of the vehicle and traffic law, three each for burglary third degree, disorderly conduct, and violations of the state labor law.

Two arrests each were made for third degree assault, driving while intoxicated, and first degree grand larceny.

One arrest each was made for second degree grand larceny, resisting an officer, unlawful entry, and the passing of a fraudulent check.

Of those arrested 38 were fined, six received suspended sentences, six were discharged and six cases were withdrawn. Four forfeited bail, two cases were referred to the grand jury and 11 are pending.

Of the mishaps, 22 were hurt in 12 accidents involving two or more vehicles, five pedestrians were injured and one person was hurt when a car ran off a roadway.

Committee Asks

towns and developing a system of compatability. However, there are many day-to-day problems of any city which must be tackled first on a city basis. This would include a study of the urban renewal problem of the city.

Pertinent questions were asked about the need for area planning as compared to a master plan for the city alone. A thorough discussion indicated the importance and urgency of creating a master plan for future development of the city and combining plans of adjacent areas into a compatible pattern and guide.

It was emphasized that a master plan for the city would be a pattern or blueprint for future development and each portion requiring funds, of any kind would have to be approved separately by the Common Council. It would provide the basic data on which to develop a new zoning law, the possible revision of any of several codes now in force, needed traffic and parking regulations and facilities, new streets, schools and all other facilities.

A thorough discussion of the various factors involved and the future savings which could be made by having a Master Plan as a guide, resulted in the unanimous approval of a voluntary motion from the floor asking the Common Council to provide the necessary funds, enabling the Kingston Planning Board to engage the services of the Voorhis firm of planning consultants to make the necessary studies and prepare a Master Plan for the city.

Members Present

Those present at the meeting of the Mayor's Advisory Committee on planning last night included Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom, J. Ellis Briggs, Robert P. Crago, Hugh R. Elwyn, Bernard A. Feeney, N. Jansen Fowler, Harry Gold, Richard M. Kalish, Adrian Kaplan, the Rev. James V. Keating, Albert Kurtz, Augustus Parker, the Rev. Forrest Prindle, Harry Rigby Jr., Charles M. Rinschler, Anthony Soccomani, Mrs. John Schussler, A. J. P. Seitz, Mrs. Herbert Shultz, Henry Singer and Earl F. Soper. Members of the committee who could not be present included Hyndrick Armstrong, Walter Caunitz, John B. Sterley and Edwin T. Strong.

8 Hurt in . . .

body, and contusions of the right arm.

Treated at Hospital

Treated and discharged from Vassar Brothers Hospital were:

Janos Rez, 20, of 334 Mill street, also a resident of the rooming house, first degree burns of the face and neck.

Mrs. Dora Schiavi, 37, also of 334 Mill street, sprained left ankle.

Richard LaVacca, 6, of 34 Conklin street, abrasions of the left hand, and Miss Elaine Callahan, 13, of 47 Vernon Terrace, laceration of the right leg.

Fireman Frank Parker, attached to Engine Co. No. 7, was treated at the scene for a finger cut on his right hand.

Were Walking Past

Mr. Merritt, Miss Callahan and young LaVacca were listed by the hospitals as passers-by in the area at the time of the explosion.

The public relations office at St. Francis Hospital said Mr. Merritt was knocked to the pavement by the concussion as he was walking past the restaurant. He recovered himself and walked to police headquarters.

A spokesman for Central Hudson said today an investigation still was underway. He said company representatives discovered "a crack" in a four-inch distribution line, which runs on the south side of Mill street, at midnight.

Cavity In Area

"A cavity was found in the area around the underground pipe, which led us to believe that weight from above ground caused the pipe to crack," he said. He explained "a cavity" as an area where there is no dirt to support the pipe.

He said apparently the gas "followed the path of least resistance," and seeped into various areas under and around the buildings involved.

The blaze, which fire department officials said started in the restaurant, apparently "triggered" the first explosion, he said.

The first explosion in the restaurant was followed about a minute later by another in the rooming house next door, it was reported.

Belleve Gas Between Walls

The Central Hudson spokesman said it was believed that gas escaped between the walls of the rooms in the rooming house, "or that area between the brick and plaster which creates a void."

Miss McFarland told police she was working in the diner about 4:55 p. m., waiting on two customers.

She said she placed a coffee pot on one burner of a four-burner portable gas range. Two burners were extinguished, one was lighted for the coffee pot and the pilot light was on under the fourth burner, Miss McFarland said.

Miss McFarland said she replaced the coffee pot after waiting on one of the customers, "and a flame flared out," which she believed was "probably the result of a breeze."

Hears "Popping"

After a moment, Miss McFarland said, she walked to the back of the diner and heard a "popping" sound. The pilot light was still burning, "and a sheet of flame shot along the wall and ignited a curtain."

The two customers evacuated the diner by the front door, and Miss McFarland went out the back door, she said.

Miss McFarland told police she got into car and tried to get "as far away from the building as possible." She then returned to the diner area, heard the explosion and was cut by flying glass.

Capt. Farrell told The Freeman the area near and including the rooming house is planned as a municipal parking lot "as part of the city's urban renewal development." The rooming house was damaged beyond repair, he said.

The first alarm was sounded at 4:58 p. m., and the second alarm was turned in at 5:01 p. m.

Engines 1, 3 and 5, under the direction of Chief Merrick, responded on the first alarm and Engines 4, 7 and 2 were dispatched on the second. The recall was sounded at 12:41 a. m. today.

No Damage Estimate

Damage to the buildings involved had not been estimated, he said.

The explosions and fire snarled traffic in the area, located one block north of the heart of Poughkeepsie's main business district, "for a considerable time."

The first alarm was sounded shortly before the start of the city's heavy Thursday night shopping business. Poughkeepsie stores remain open until 9 p. m. on Thursdays.

Fire was under control about an hour after the first alarm was turned in, Capt. Farrell said, but it was necessary to detour traffic for hours, and it was approximately 9 p. m. before traffic congestion had dissipated.

Simple Answer

Milwaukee (AP)—A psychologist in a suburban school system told the mother of a primary class youngster that a possibly serious personality problem might be in the offing for her child, a conclusion the psychologist drew in part from the fact the youngster used only black and red crayons in school. That afternoon the mother asked the child why only those colors were used. "All my other crayons are broken," the child explained.

Expect Harriman To Sign Flood Extension Bill

Governor Harriman is expected to sign the bill extending the time for state flood emergency assistance in the next few days.

The bill introduced in the Assembly by Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock extends the time for state emergency assistance to municipalities for restoration or repair of publicly owned facilities damaged by the August and October 1955 floods and hurricane.

The bill was introduced January 16 and passed the Assembly March 11 and the Senate March 13.

The measure has the approval of the New York State Flood Control Commission and it has been recommended for signature into law.

The bill amends Chapter 632 of the Laws of 1936 by extending provisions of that Chapter to December 31, 1957.

Numerous municipalities in the stricken area were unable to complete restoration projects before the deadline, due to conditions beyond their control such as shortage of personnel, materials, supplies, etc. Extension of the time to the end of this year would give the municipalities an opportunity to complete the work and get the state aid.

Ulster Homes has during the past three years erected and sold in Ulster county more than 400 homes. Their other sub-division in the county this year is "High Falls Park" in High Falls, town of Rosendale where 106 lots are being improved with the first homes to be delivered in June.

Brookside Acres on the Zena road, town of Woodstock consists of only 18 homes, some of which are already occupied. These are larger lots of up to one acre with individually styled homes to suit the buyer.

The furnished model of the Sweetbriar opening Saturday will be on display Sunday afternoon also.

A report at 3:25 a. m., said the officers had located the car, a station wagon, on Chambers near Stuyvesant street, and that Brazee was arrested.

Attorney Robert A. MacKinnon represented the district attorney's office in court today.

Saugerties P-TA Hears Address Of Dr. Schwartz

The program of the Saugerties Parent-Teacher Association meeting Wednesday was concerned with ways of promoting good mental health. Dr. Herbert F. Schwartz, medical director of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital, was the guest speaker.

Following the presentation of a film, "Sibling Relations and Personality," Dr. Schwartz discussed the four basic needs of every individual in order to have good mental health. He showed that everyone has the need to be loved, to be appreciated, to be independent at times, and to be needed by someone. Dr. Schwartz illustrated these needs by references to the film.

In a question and answer period which followed, Dr. Schwartz answered questions from the audience concerning the behavior of children. The questions related to such problems as the dislike of school, being too sensitive, thumb-sucking, and speech difficulties.

voted to send representatives to the spring conference of the Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The citation which was presented to her read as follows: "A life membership in the Saugerties Parent-Teacher Association is being awarded to Mrs. Dorothy Adams for her outstanding contribution to the local association. Mrs. Adams has shown continued interest in and loyalty to the Saugerties Parent-Teacher Association as a member for 25 years. She has also helped to advance parent-teacher association work by holding positions as recording secretary, member of the program committee, safety chairman, vice-president and president for two years. During her term as president the change was made from afternoon to evening meetings, a factor which has contributed so much to the success of the local organization."

At the conclusion of the business meeting pamphlets concerning mental hygiene were displayed by Mrs. Rolf Anselm who represented the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, the organization which sponsored the movie.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON
THE GOLD AT FORT KNOX

The United States Treasury will give you for your paper money—more paper! But foreigners and their governments can demand and get gold. You can't. You are second-class citizens.

There are about 21 billion $'s in gold stored at Fort Knox, subject to withdrawal whenever foreigners decide our paper dollar is worth less than the gold dollar.

MR. HUTTON

Press reports have stated that here in America there are about $17 billion $'s worth of foreign balances on deposit. If these foreign balances are taken abroad in gold money, there will be little gold left to back up the billions of paper money in the hands of American citizens.

Now: Should foreigners have the right to demand our gold when that privilege is denied to us? This is just another foreign aid phase that has hypnotized Federal officials the past 20 years.

Every $ we give France, England, Tito, Nehru, Nasser and the rest is a slight draft for that same amount of Fort Knox gold, and is a direct threat on the value of your paper money.

U. S. NEWS & WORLD REPORT has stated: "The $ that you hold lost 2-cents in value during 1956. Today's dollar has less value in terms of the things it will buy than at any time in history. * * * and is heading toward a further loss of value."

Sad but true! But the foreigners don't worry. They can get gold.

Magsaysay Body Placed in Tomb

Manila, March 22 (AP)—Ramon Magsaysay, third president of the Philippines, was placed in his tomb today mourned by millions of Filipinos and leaders of the free world.

The 29-year-old Magsaysay was killed Sunday in a plane crash on Cebu Island which took the lives of 25 other persons.

Seven-Hour Rites

Seven-hour state and religious funeral rites today released the pentup emotions of his countrymen. As a motorized caisson bearing the flag-draped casket moved slowly through the city, hundreds of thousands of weeping, shouting men and children poured about it in a human flood. They overwhelmed a reinforced police, army and constabulary force in their efforts to press toward the center of the official procession.

The last journey for the man who broke the back of the Communist-led Huk rebellion began just before dawn at the presidential palace. The first stop was at Luneta Park, fronting on Manila Bay. There Msgr. Rufino Santos, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Manila, celebrated a Pontifical High Mass before a throng of 100,000.

Before His Time

Rockford, Ill. (AP)—Someday

Richard A. Peavy will be old enough to wear a U. S. Army sergeant's uniform, but right now Rockford police don't think he is at only 16. Officers had a hunch when they saw him wearing it that he wasn't, so they checked and discovered that young Peavy was wearing his soldier brother's uniform, who, at the moment, was in the guardhouse at Fort Sheridan.

Troopers Claim They've Solved 3 Loan Robberies

Lyons, N. Y., March 22 (AP)—State troopers today claimed they had solved three holdups of loan company offices of $1,450 with the arrest last night of two men a few minutes after a loan office here was robbed.

Charged with first degree robbery were Stephen Carter, 40, of Medina, and John F. Krzeminski, 20, of Orchard Park, a suburb of Buffalo.

At their arraignment last night they asked for a hearing, which was scheduled for today. State police said they admitted taking $153 yesterday from the Beneficial Finance Co. office here. It was the second holdup of the office within two months. They said the two gunmen tied up Frank Caldwell and Miss Joyce Lenhardt, employees of the loan company, then rifled the cash drawer and fled.

A passerby gave police a description of the automobile. They stopped it on a road south of here and arrested the two men, who put up no resistance.

Police said they recovered the money and took two loaded .38 caliber pistols from the men. Miss Lenhardt identified Carter, they said, as the man who held up the same office on Jan. 25 and escaped with $1,038.

Both men admitted holding up the Interstate Loan Co. in Perry of $260 on Feb. 28, police said.

CONGRESSIONAL WATCHDOGS

Congressional investigations, in theory, are supposed to provide a basis for intelligent lawmaking. They often do not. But even without that end result they may serve usefully as a kind of watchdog check on various phases of American life.

In this latter aspect there is danger of abuse. Some legislators seem to investigate for investigation's sake, figuring there is ammunition to be gained for the next election, or notoriety achieved which can advance political fortunes.

The current Senate inquiry into racketeering in labor and industry may possibly lead to some healthy house-cleaning by labor itself and at the same time produce new federal legislation.

New laws are mostly in the talk stage now, with not too many well-defined projects shaping up so far. One that is clear, however, is a proposal to compel union officials who manage union pension and welfare funds to make full and regular disclosure of fund finances.

Labor fought hard to win the allowances that make these funds possible. They were hailed as milestones in the improvement of the average organized worker's lot. It would seem automatic that such monies would be guarded scrupulously.

Yet this has evidently not always been the case. Reports of irregularities in the handling of pension and welfare funds are not uncommon. And, as Secretary of Labor James Mitchell says, they represent a "great temptation" to racketeers.

He estimates that these sums now amount to more than 26 billion dollars, a huge reservoir indeed. To protect the millions of ordinary workers who are the beneficiaries of this rainy-day money, Mitchell favors the proposed law demanding financial declarations.

It is hard to quarrel with the purposes of this measure. Responsible unions and honest union officials can have no fear of it. They cannot fairly brand it labor-busting legislation, since its aim is to aid the union rank and file.

The money is steadily set aside to ease the suffering and the old age of workingmen. There can be no excuse for shuffling it around behind closed doors, with no fair accounting. Big sums means big responsibility, wisely borne. And 26 billion dollars is a lot of money.

MAKE WAY FOR THE NEW

When the Air Force retired the last B-17 bomber it did not spell the end of piston-powered aircraft in the bomber command. But it is a fact that the military has indeed sent the last piston-type fighter planes to the nations museums and junkyards.

Less than a dozen years ago such planes still were the backbone and substance of our mighty World War II air arm. Their top speed of 450 miles an hour and maximum altitude of 40,000 feet were regarded as aviation marvels at the time. Their feats of combat formed a brilliant chapter in our conquest of stubborn enemies on two far-flung fronts.

But today our fighter wings rely upon roaring jets that achieve speeds up to 1,400 miles an hour and heights beyond 45,000 feet. Gone are the "antiquated" machine guns that bristled from the old piston jobs. In their place are fast-firing cannons or air-to-air missiles. Automatic fire-control systems zero in on enemy craft with deadly sureness.

We welcome the streaking jets. But their whining, droning predecessors long ago battled their way into a secure niche in our history.

KEEP GOING, BOYS

A man writing to his home town paper suggests a "cut the budget week" during which every taxpaying citizen and organization would write letters of protest to congressmen and senators. That method has been tried before without much success.

It is worth trying again, especially when there actually seems to be some sort of effort under way in Washington to find places to cut. If this trend continues, the

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE MAYOR OF NEW YORK

New York is as big as some countries and more important than most. It has 8,500,000 inhabitants of all races, colors, creeds and religions. It is a very complicated place to manage.

For many visitors to the United States, New York is the first port of entry. Racial and nationalistic questions are urgent in this city and it takes tact and good sense to avoid difficulties which may be embarrassing not only to whoever happens to be Mayor of New York but to the country.

I recently attended two luncheons which the Mayor gave in honor of visiting great men: one to Guy Mollet, Premier of France; the other to Prince Bernhard of Holland. Both were graceful affairs at which many of the leading citizens of New York were present. Had Mayor Robert F. Wagner attempted to give such a luncheon to honor King Saud of Saudi Arabia, very few of those present at these two luncheons would have or could have come.

The argument that the Mayor of New York "cannot be allowed to decide how cordial or how frigid" a reception to a visiting dignitary is to be nonsense. If the Mayor gives the luncheon, the decision is his.

Usually, New Yorkers like their Mayors not as politicians but as New Yorkers. That may sound trite or puzzling, but it is characteristic of a town where Toots Shor is a personality and George Jessel talks philosophy. It is a town where Sherman Billingsley can drive customers away from the Stork Club and where it is an honor to be permitted to spend money at 21 or the Colony or Pavillon where the prices are never too high because the customers enjoy paying.

The Mayor of New York must know how to live with Italians, Chinese, Puerto Ricans, Jews from 20 or more countries, Mayflower Americans, the Irish and the Germans. He must know the customs of an Irish wake and a Jewish bar mitzvah. Fiorello La Guardia could do all the honors of the city in its many languages—it is said that he spoke 11 fluently.

The citizens of New York are, on the whole, a sophisticated lot who have, as the expression goes, been around. Many of them have known the great men before they became great. They are not usually impressed by so-called greatness. They have known how it is most often manufactured and in this city, there is a street, Madison Avenue, where are concentrated most of the agencies devoted to making men great for a price.

But the Mayor of New York is something different. He is regarded as a good fellow. "Butch" La Guardia became a statesman toward the end of his life. He even went to Washington. By that time, New Yorkers stopped taking "Butch" seriously. Bill O'Dwyer got into some troubles and went to live in Mexico, but nobody in New York hates him and when he came to town, he got a decent reception.

The Mayor who was best beloved and most favorably remembered was Jimmy Walker, a former song-writer, lawyer and brilliant speaker, drunk or sober. It is suggested that Jimmy Walker got some graft. Far be it from me to know whether that was so or not, but frankly nobody really cared or cares. Jimmy's basic troubles were matrimonial and there for a while, he did outrage public opinion, because public men in New York are not supposed to get divorced and a Catholic does it, it kills him politically.

Robert F. Wagner's father was a popular man in this town and got himself elected United States Senator. It has been a toss up whether Wagner would run for re-election for Mayor or for Governor or U. S. Senator. He is running for Mayor again. And, as things go in this town, he will be re-elected. In the course of his career, which exists in this sprawling congregation of humanity, Bob Wagner is a popular figure. He makes an excellent impromptu speech. He has a delightful and popular wife and the town knows and likes his boys.

These are essentials in this very mixed population and nobody really is annoyed with him for not eating lamb stew with King Saud or any other king. Millions of New Yorkers come from countries where they had kings and the memories are not pleasant.

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

SOME BABY NEWS

There are a couple of interesting approaches to problems in pediatrics mentioned in Dr. Morris Fishbein's book "New Advances in Medicine" which parents may find of help. We are told that one hundred years ago babies were fed whenever they cried. Fifty years ago babies were fed at four-hour intervals, a system that worked well except that some mothers were too rigid about the time interval. Now demand feeding is being boomed again in order to give the baby "what he wants when he wants it."

This is all very well but many pediatricians are resisting the revival of demand feeding, that is, feeding whenever the baby demands it. They claim that with it (a) the baby is fed too much and too often, and (b) there is too much stress on the mother, who prefers the modern, regular schedule which permits her to care for the rest of the family and regulate her own life, her work and her social leisure. It has been suggested that the problem be solved by a compromise, with the baby regulating the night feedings and the mother regulating the daytime feedings.

From a physician in Miami comes a report that a six-hour feeding schedule from birth, with early introduction of semi-solid foods, seems entirely satisfactory to maintain the infant's proper weight gain and in maintaining the level of the blood. This schedule permits a good adjustment between the baby and the mother and allows the mother more time for other family duties. The Miami physician found that when the health of babies on the six-hour schedule was compared with that of babies on the four-hour schedule, 94 per cent of the babies receiving the six-hour plan took new foods more readily, 8 per cent had fewer bowel upsets. Moreover, the six-hour schedule babies seemed more contented and had fewer allergies.

Another unusual finding is the number of children who have peptic ulcers. If a child complains of pain in the upper abdomen, it is recommended that X-rays be taken and the necessary studies made to determine whether an ulcer of the stomach or duodenum (first part of the small intestine) is present. A report from Texas tells of six cases of ulcers in children who ranged from seven to twelve years of age. Two of the children were nervous irritable girls who had personality problems and difficulties in family adjustment. Treatment was given to relieve the ulcers but the doctors also advised psychiatric study for the girls.

Another doctor said his observations led him to believe that from 0.1 to 0.2 per cent of children between the ages of one and six may have peptic ulcers and that emotional factors have played a prominent part in causing them. He defines the typical candidate for a childhood peptic ulcer as a tense, bright, nervous youngster; such a child tends to keep his emotions repressed. Treatment of childhood ulcers usually includes a bland diet and drinking of milk between meals and before going to bed at night, plus the medical treatment for ulcers in adults.

Washington News

Washington—(NEA)—Teamster big boy James Hoffa can count among his mistakes a smart crack he shot off at Robert Kennedy, Senate rackets committee counsel, the night he was arrested by the FBI.

He referred to the 31-year-old Kennedy as "Bobby boy."

Kennedy smiled and for good reason. He's the father of five kids ranging in age from six months to six years.

They're Kathleen, Joseph, Robert, David and Mary Courtney. His wife Ethel hasn't missed a day of the hearings, by the way. She has a couple of full-time baby sitters.

EVER SINCE President Eisenhower has had his persistent cough and more recent head cold, the White House has been deluged with sure-cure suggestions from the public.

Here are a few:

Go to bed and lock the door.

Drink nothing but hot lemonade with a bit of brandy.

Try Yoga, which means standing on your head like Indian Prime Minister Nehru.

Take a brisk walk every morning like Harry Truman.

Smoke cigars like Winston Churchill.

A RED-HOT RIVALRY is already developing between the Air Force and the Marines over whose whirlybird President Eisenhower will use.

Although the Air Force has purchased two Bell Aircraft helicopters for Ike's use, the Marines have other plans.

They're going to buy four new Sikorski helicopters which will be kept in the Washington White House use.

A lot of prestige and publicity will be at stake when Ike takes his first helicopter hop and the Marines don't want to miss out.

WITH ALL the phoniness in this burg, it's a delightful change of pace to hit a cocktail party that's got a genuine kick to it.

That's exactly the kind to "do" Ralph and Leita Pargas threw out at their home before the untimely death of Philippine President Magsaysay. Ralph is the Philippine military attaché.

Leita is a member of International Luncheon Group Number Three, one of several organizations of wives of congressmen and diplomats who meet each week to try out each other's recipes.

As a new twist, she asked all the ladies to bring their husbands to a cocktail fling featuring Philippine food and entertainment.

There was nothing stuffy about this affair. Leita's 17-year-old daughter did a snappy native dance with another Philippine boy her age. It was quite a trick because they had to hop between long bamboo poles whacked together in time with the music.

The dining table was stacked with delicacies, the most popular of which was a concoction called "Pinsek." Leita makes it by mixing together ground pork, hamburger, water, chestnuts, bamboo shoots and "leftovers." Then she wraps the combination in dough and fries it in deep fat.

MEMBERS OF THE Russian embassy have banded together to solve their baby-sitting problem which has communistic overtones.

A special playroom has been fixed up on the third floor of the embassy. It's equipped with dolls, toys, cradles and all the latest gimmicks to keep a youngster happy.

Russian wives take turns keeping the kids while the others go out and whoop it up.

Members of the embassy say they can find no one to sit with their young-uns. Truth of the matter is, they're afraid a non-Russian baby sitter will be a bad influence.

CHARLES SAWYER, former Secretary of Commerce under Harry Truman, came in town the other day for a meeting of the Business Advisory Council at the Commerce Department. When the morning session wound up he was invited up to Secretary Sinclair Weeks' office to have a look at a portrait of himself that had just been hung on the wall.

After Sawyer had studied his favorite face for a few minutes he noticed that the receptionist in the office looked rather confused.

"What's the matter?" he asked.

"You look so familiar," said Diane Meines. Then she caught on.

"Why it's you, Mr. Sawyer," she said. "Well, I'm certainly glad they hung up a handsome man. I have to look at that picture all day."

REP. E. C. GATHINGS (D-Ark)—an enthusiastic rice eater—has decided that the low consumption of rice in the U. S. is due to the lack of inviting recipes.

So he has collected a batch of mouth-watering rice recipes from the embassies around town to tempt the public.

They include such exotic dishes as Entremets Au Riz from France, Croche Di Riso from Italy, a German plate called Rice a la Trautmannsdorff, and Arroz Con Pollo from Cuba.

His favorite recipe comes from a friend in West Memphis, Ark., however. It's simply rice with mushrooms. You melt one-eighth pound of butter or margarine in a skillet, add one cup of uncooked rice and fry until it pops like popcorn, put rice in a baking dish and add one can of condensed soup and one small can of mushrooms. Cook 45 minutes in an oven at 350 degrees.

Gathings has gathered recipes from 15 embassies which he'll be glad to pass along to anyone who's interested.

His motto: "Let's eat more rice."

Questions -- Answers

Q—If holes are punched in a container of water, why will the water squirt farthest from the lower one?

Q—Who first used the donkey as a symbol for the Democratic party?

A—Thomas Nast, in a political cartoon entitled "A Live Jackass Kicking a Dead Lion," it was published during the Civil War.

Q—What are the only three offenses for which a member of Congress is subject to arrest while in office?

A—Treason, felony and breach of the peace.

So They Say..

Our (Republican) party is not, and never has been, the party of wealth. Lincoln was the first of America's successful poor. He made it an honor to be born in a log cabin.

—Federal Judge James C. Connel of Cleveland, Ohio.

We live too well, considering the state of the rest of the world, and some day fate may make us pay for it... we fear that at any moment something... will happen to upset the apple cart and reduce us to the economic level of people who are less fortunate but, we know in our own hearts, are quite as deserving as we are.

Today in World Affairs

'Normalcy' in Time of Peril Is Called Wishful Thinking

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 22—This might be described as the era of fretfulness and irritation in democratic countries. Whether it is Britain with her labor troubles and financial strain, or America with her public complaining about high taxes and big budgets, the picture would be pleasing to the Kremlin were it not for the fact that Soviet Russia is having her troubles, too.

A well ordered existence, free from anxiety and sacrifices of the fruits of one's labor, would be welcome everywhere, but the facts of modern life—not always understood by people generally—point to the danger of a devastating world war. Because every day's efforts to prevent it are not spectacular nor easy to explain, too many people in the world go on blissfully thinking we can all get back to "normalcy" by merely wishing problems off the slate. It is not, therefore, to solve in a few days the big thorny questions of the day but to explain each other's viewpoints on current matters that Prime Minister Macmillan, of Great Britain, and President Eisenhower have sat down together at Bermuda this week.

Immediate solutions of knotty problems that face Britain and America will not come out of such a conference, irrespective of how hopefully the official communiques may be worded. By personal contact, frank discussions are taking place that would require weeks of negotiation through ambassadors. The results will be apparent in the months ahead—for Britain and America will work together.

An Empire Dwindles

Britain is in deep trouble—financial, economic, military and political. An empire has dwindled as colonies have one by one obtained their independence. Man power that can be summoned in war time is available in small numbers than ever before. Britain is still a world power and the closest friend America has but "leadership" in global affairs has passed to the United States, on the one hand, and the Soviet Union, on the other.

Many citizens of this country are totally unaware of and many are only superficially informed about the responsibility that has been thrust on the United States by the events that have followed the ending of World War 2. Talk is still heard about "all the money spent overseas being wasted," about trying to "buy allies" and about "meddling in foreign countries." But the stark fact is that America has the choice of either letting the Soviet Union achieve a commanding position in Asia and Africa as well as in Europe and the Far East, and someday trying to fight alone a combination of Soviet satellites, or else preventing now the penetration of the Communists into the free world.

Cheaper Than War
All this takes money for military purposes and for aid to allies, but it could take more money and the lives of millions of Americans as well if a world war breaks out.

It isn't time, therefore, to indulge in carping criticism, as so many British newspapers have been doing lately. Some of their attacks on President Eisenhower personally have been below the belt. This seems like a strange way to "win friends and influence people."

Americans are sympathetic with the plight of Britain and are concerned over the recent decline of the European countries in terms of military potential. Unquestionably, there is still a feeling in London that America let both the British and French down in the Suez affair. But the answer lies in waiting for the later acts to unfold rather than in trying to reach conclusions in the middle of the drama.

U. S. Moves Cautiously

The United States is moving cautiously in the Middle East but, with the economic leverage possessed by this country, there are signs that the abuses of power by Nasser of Egypt can be curbed without involving America or Britain in a shooting war.

Britain needs money. Her military expenses have to be cut because her revenues from overseas trade are being curtailed. Who will make up the deficit in man power and weapons? Theoretically, it's the United States. But actually the American taxpayer will want to be assured that major responsibility for Europe's defense isn't being shifted to America without the man power burden and costs being equitably shared abroad.

Mr. Macmillan and Mr. Eisenhower are old friends. They talk frankly to each other. But what is needed is some frank talk to the American people and to the British people, respectively, so that attitudes of complacency and demands for more and more benefits along the lines of the "welfare state" will not imperil the national budgets. What's needed above all else today is a clear explanation of why nations that must have "guns" can't have all the "butter" they want, too. And the proper balance between "guns" and "butter" can come only when blind partisanship and petty feuding are abandoned in all democratic countries in the interest of true patriotism.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Union City, Tenn., March 21—

The funeral of Fred Tisdale was a large event in the affairs of the little city which was his ancient home and a social and religious success. Mr. Tisdale was 70 when he died a few days ago in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., that plumb tarried out from the exertions of a varied and generally satisfactory career which wound up in ironic disappointment.

Tizzy had been everywhere and had seen and done more than most men and at long last he became the editor and prop of a country weekly, the Times, of New Milford, Conn. This was the ambition of many metropolitan reporters and copywriters in his gaudy days, with a poultry-and-egg farm the optional alternative. But his country weekly crushed him.

He had chased fire engines for the Star in Kansas City when Star men wandering on their way were regarded in something on the order of awe by lesser lights of the business, and the saying went that any man who had worked on the Star could hang up his hat in any shop in the land.

There was a Kansas City Star Alumni Association, a loose organization who used to drink bathtub gin in the backwoods of Kansas, and New Canaan, Stamford and New Canaan, Conn., where Tizzy lived for some years in the prohibition era, but most of them were fallen-away types who had just glanced off the Star on their way to relative opulence in New York as press agents, Park avenue peddlers and genteel grafters.

Tisdale had been a real star man who had never renounced his attachment to the newspaper business and his sentimental pleasure in his experience and qualifications. He could write you a story whether against a deadline or for a magazine and he could, moreover, draw good pictures to illustrate them.

Mr. Tisdale worked in New Orleans, too, and drifted to Seattle and thence, finally, to Shanghai. The tramp reporter and the tramp printer were on the loose and the legend that they were drunkards is independent of the truth. Mostly they were just inquisitive young men who wanted to look over the dull horizon of gritty towns.

They had the daring initiative to disappear from Omaha on pay night, hop the day coach and take a look at Denver, St. Louis or Chicago. But never Dallas, Des Moines or Louisville. Those were lifeless backwaters. Their reporters were dull husbands, pushing perambulators and bucking for secretary to the congressman or the mayor.

Early in the first year, Fred Tisdale got a magazine job in Washington which paid $6,000 a year, a very high salary then. In less than a year he chucked it, explaining to Bill Penick, a rising young industrial executive who had gone to high school with him in Union City and who bore his pall the other day, that the monotony and the restrictions on truth were spoiling his joy. He was a cardiac crock even then so he could not qualify for the war, but he did go to Paris for the Red Cross and thereafter, back in the States, he went trouping with one of the old Shubert passing shows, doing publicity and feeding comedy into some of the acts.

He wrote some of the material for Moran and Mack, the two black crows whose solemn hilarities were second only, if they were actually second, to Bert Williams. Under the current censorship his humor would be forbidden today as "racism."

In 1948, Tisdale bought the New Milford Times and he and the beautiful Stella jumped into a heartbreaking, hopeless struggle against the mean handicaps of bureaucratic paper-work—wages and hours, withholding tax, corporate and personal records and tax returns, and the cruel inhumanities of "labor."

A gay hostess of a gracious home found herself toiling into the night over the books and composing stuff about the garden clubs and "sociables." His strength was waning and they soon admitted to themselves that he had waited too long to realize the old reporter's standardized dream. No boss he had ever had was more harsh and no boss had ever had such power over him as this possession which now possessed its possessors and drove them to exhaustion.

At last, in 1954, they escaped by selling the Times and since then had quietly lived for each other in the precious understanding of a beautiful marriage.

Legislators Decide Against $1,500 Raise for Expenses

Albany, N. Y., March 22 (AP)—New York's senators and assemblymen have decided against voting themselves a $1,500 increase in expense allowances.

They arrived regretfully at this decision yesterday after concluding that the move would be—in the expression of Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney—"unconstitutional."

Mahoney announced after a caucus of Republican senators that the plan to raise the lawmakers' "lulu" from $1,000 to $2,500 had been scrapped.

No Account Asked
"Lulu" is the legislators' term for the allowance they receive each year in lieu of expenses. They do not have to account for the way they spend the money. It is in addition to their $7,500 annual salary.

Mahoney said that "all legislative leaders of both parties" had agreed on the move before running into the constitutional barrier.

The Constitution forbids the Legislature from raising members' pay during their terms of office. The lawmakers had hoped to skirt this obstacle by increasing the expense allowance.

The no-extra-pay decision came on one of the busiest days of the 1957 session of the Legislature, which is working toward adjournment sometime late next week. Scores of bills were passed by both houses before they adjourned for the weekend.

To Meet Monday

The Senate scheduled a Monday afternoon session for a third consecutive week. The Assembly is to meet as usual Monday night.

Among the major legislative developments:

1. Republican chairman of the anti-wiretap committee forged new "compromise" legislation in an executive chamber conference.

2. GOP lawmakers completed and introduced their new bill revising downward a big increase planned in the unemployment insurance payroll tax on employers.

3. The Assembly passed and sent to the Senate two bi-partisan measures designed to help the thoroughbred race tracks finance a multi-million-dollar reconstruction program. The bills would raise the tracks' share of pari-mutuel betting receipts by about four million dollars a year.

Wire-Tap Vetoed

Gov. Harriman vetoed the anti-wiretap program Monday—for the second straight year—citing objections from law enforcement officials that it would hamper their work.

Following yesterday's conference, the committee chairman, Anthony P. Savarese Jr. of Queens, filed three new bills drawn to meet their objections.

The measures were the product of a two-hour meeting involving Savarese, Harriman's counsel, Daniel Gutman, New York Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy, Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan and Brooklyn Dist. Atty. Edward S. Silver.

Savarese said it was agreed that use of secret microphones and other listening devices by private persons would be made a felony. He said, however, that the committee had abandoned its insistence that police use of the devices be brought under strict court control.

The conference also agreed in principle, Savarese said, that eaves-dropping evidence obtained illegally should be excluded from civil action, but not from criminal proceedings. The committee's original bill would have banned such evidence in both types of actions.

The Republicans' new unemployment insurance bill would levy a two-tenths per cent increase in the payroll tax for all employers. The current tax rate is 2.7 per cent.

The tax on seasonal employers would be boosted to 3.2 per cent next year and 3.5 per cent in 1959. The original bill proposed raising their tax to as high as four per cent.

It drew strong opposition from Harriman and the apparel and construction trades.

As in the original bill, the maximum weekly benefit to unemployed workers would be increased from $36 to $45. Workers whose salaries averaged $100 a week or more would be eligible for the top benefit. This is a change from the $105 weekly average first proposed.

People's Bible Class Scheduled

The People's Bible class will conduct its regular Saturday service at 7:30 p. m. in The Vly Chapel.

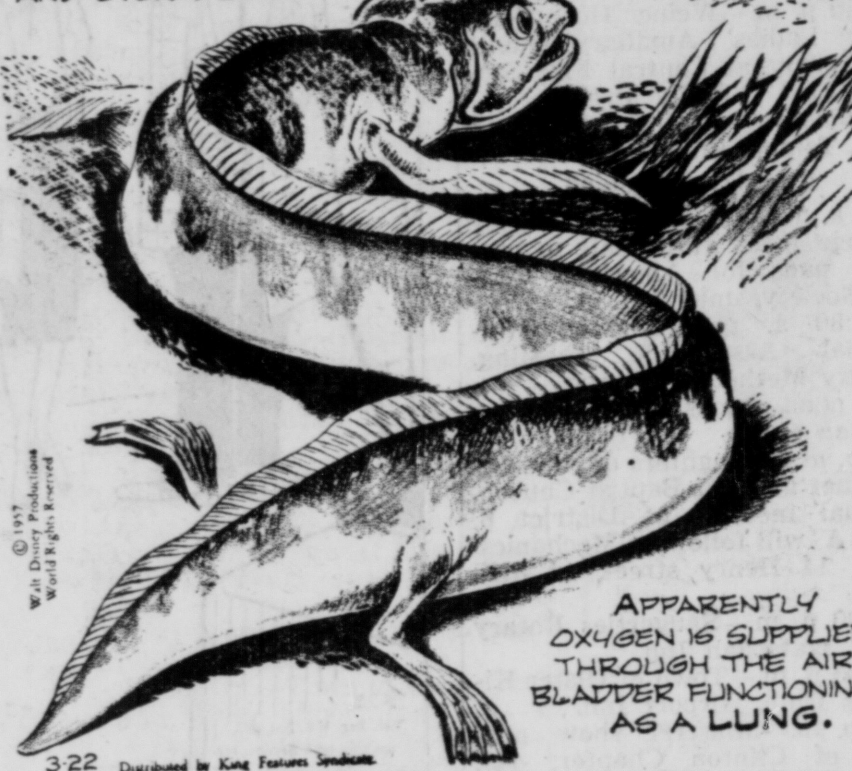

Special singing and music under the direction of Thomas Demmel has been arranged. The Rev. O. Phillips, class teacher, is speaking on a series of studies on the cross during Lent.

The topic this week will be "The Unknown Cross of Satan." A cordial welcome is extended to all.

Nixon Regards Arab Refugees Mid-East Key

Washington, March 22 (AP)—Vice President Nixon, back from a 22-day goodwill tour of Africa, is expected to urge strong American efforts to solve the Arab refugee problem.

Nixon returned yesterday after a 22,000-mile flying trip which took him to eight nations. He was tired and suffering from a head cold. But he perked up when he and his wife received an affectionate airport greeting from their two daughters, Patricia, 10, and Julie, 8.

Notes Importance

After alighting from the big air force plane that brought him home, Nixon said he was "overwhelmed with friendship" in all the lands he visited.

But remarks he made to reporters during the 23-hour flight to Washington showed he regarded the refugee problem as of primary importance to any solution of the Middle East dilemma.

The question of the 900,000 Arab refugees from Palestine arose again and again in the Arab countries he visited in Africa.

Nixon told newsmen the refugee problem is "more important than I had anticipated" in connection with what he termed the "cancer" of the Arab-Israeli dispute.

Must Find Solution

"We must face up to the fact that there is no Middle East solution which does not handle the refugee problem," he said. "We must devote every effort to finding a more satisfactory solution."

Although Nixon did not specify what steps should be taken, he indicated clearly he believes the American government must take the lead in drafting a plan, possibly including the donation of large funds to resettle the refugees.

Nixon said "all of the interested democratic nations must make a greater contribution" to solving the problem.

Hearing Recesses

Washington, March 22 (AP)—The Subversive Activities Control Board (SACB) hearing into alleged Communist activities within the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers stood recessed today until next Tuesday. The recess was called after testimony by Homer T. Wilson of Strawberry Plains, Tenn., a former vice president of Mine-Mill now employed as an electrician by a zinc company.

Town Will Push 40-Group Salk

Protection, Kan., March 22 (AP)—Protection will try to round up all residents 40 and under on April 2 and give Salk polio vaccine to all those who haven't had it.

Mayor Harris B. Powell, whose brother, daughter and grandson have been polio victims, proclaimed the project. "It is practically criminal negligence to fail to get polio protection," he said.

Dr. L. G. Glenn, county health officer, member of the State Board of Health and Protection's only physician, will do the needling.

Labor Again Shows Vote-Pulling Gains

London, March 22 (AP)—Conservative party candidates won two more special elections for the House of Commons yesterday but the Labor opposition again made it a much harder fight than in the 1955 general elections.

The balloting in both contests reflected the downward Conservative trend that has been marked in seven by-elections since Sir Anthony Eden quit as prime minister Jan. 9. Laborite leaders again called for the government's resignation, but Eden's successor, Harold Macmillan, has said he has no intention of calling new general elections.

In Beckenham, a Tory stronghold in London's suburbs, Philip Goodhart defeated Laborite Neville Sandelson 29,621-17,445. In the 1955 elections the Conservative candidate got 38,614 votes to 17,377 for his Laborite opponent.

Rail Abandonment OKayed

Washington, March 22 (AP)—Signing of documents giving effect to the abandonment of the New York Central Railroad line where it crosses the St. Lawrence river to Cornwall, Ont., was announced today. On the U. S. side of the river the railroad has conveyed to the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp., its right, title and interest to its line from the international boundary to a point south of the Racquette river bridge. The corporation is the agency created by Congress to construct and maintain the U. S. portion of the 27-foot-deep St. Lawrence Seaway. The waterway, now about 30 per cent complete, is scheduled to be opened in early 1959. Approval for the railway abandonment had been granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Canadian Board of Transport Commissioners.

Baby's Eyes Help Blind to See

New York, March 22 (AP)—Two New Yorkers are seeing through the eyes of a baby who died last Friday.

The infant, Philip J. Horton Jr., died of an incurable spinal condition at Riverhead, N. Y. He was 34 days old.

The parents, who reside in Cutchogue, N. Y., were determined that their dead son should benefit the sightless. Corneal transplants must be used within 48 hours after death.

When no means were found to get their child's corneas to New York in a hurry, Mr. and Mrs. Horton drove the 75 miles by car to the eye bank for sight restoration in Manhattan.

Kiwanis Inducts Members, Names Parley Delegates

Robert B. Hasbrouck and John J. Bott were inducted into membership of the Kingston Kiwanis Club Thursday by Raymond W. Garrahan, chairman of the Education and Fellowship Committee.

Some of the aims and purposes of the Kiwanis Club were explained to the new members, who in turn related brief histories of their own activities prior to joining the service organization.

Delegates and alternates to the Kiwanis International Convention at Atlantic City in June, were elected at the noon luncheon. President H. Van Wyck Darrow and vice president George J. Silkworth were elected delegates, with vice president Elmer A. Ryland and Chester Baltz Jr. as alternates.

Proposal Is Studied On Arterial Phases

Syracuse, N. Y., March 22 (AP)—State highway officials today studied a proposal by Syracuse city officials that emergency communication facilities be set up on state arterial routes.

District Engineer Millard W. Hawks of the State Public Works Department said he would present the plan to Albany officials and to the Federal Bureau of Roads.

Traffic safety experts formulated the plan at a meeting Wednesday. Under present plans, they said, no provision has been made for reporting emergencies along the city-skirting roads.

Emergency telephone booths would be situated at strategic points under the plan.

Marilyn Won't Talk

New York, March 22 (AP)—Marilyn Monroe has refused to confirm or deny reports she is expecting a child. She says she considers that part of her life a private matter. A newspaper story out of Hollywood said the blonde actress had turned down the role of Grushenka in "The Brothers Karamazov" because she is expecting a baby. Representatives of Miss Monroe said she "is available for work if the proper vehicle comes along" and quoted her as saying she still would like to play the role of Grushenka.

Reversal Play Assures Slam

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Hand No. 7 from the Intercollegiate championships is a toughy. North and South must first bid the small slam in diamonds and then South has to make it.

If North responds with two hearts there is no trouble getting to six. South bids two spades. North shows his diamond support and South checks for aces and then bids the diamond slam.

West opens the queen of clubs. South wins the trick and plays the king of trumps. This safety play is designed to guard against the possibility of finding West with all four trumps. If East holds all four trumps nothing can be done about it.

Sure enough, West has all the trumps and now South can't afford to ruff out his small club.

His first thought is to try to set up a discard on a heart, so he leads a low heart toward dummy. It doesn't matter what heart he plays from dummy. East wins and plays a second club. Now South is ready for a dummy reversal play. He leads the six of trumps and overtakes with the appropriate card in dummy.

A heart is ruffed with the eight of trumps and the four-spot played. Again dummy wins the trick as cheaply as possible. A third heart is trumped and dummy is entered with the queen of spades.

The last trump from dummy allows South to discard his losing club and pulls West's last trump at the same time. There are no trumps left anywhere and South's hand is good for the rest of the tricks.

Judge Jacob A. Latona set April 1 for sentencing. The maximum penalty is 20 years imprisonment.

D'Orlando, a shoe repairman, was tried on a charge of first degree murder in the death of Theodore Carandras.

The prosecution said D'Orlando struck Carandras with a lead pipe during an argument over a $50 debt at Carandras' tavern.

D'Orlando testified that he grew angry when the tavern-keeper pressed for repayment of the loan.

About 90 per cent of today's prescriptions are for medicines that did not exist two decades ago.

Shoe Repairman Is Convicted in Beating

Buffalo, N. Y., March 22 (AP)—A county court jury has convicted Albert M. D'Orlando, 37, of first degree manslaughter in the fatal beating of a 63-year-old tavern proprietor last November.

Judge Jacob A. Latona set April 1 for sentencing. The maximum penalty is 20 years imprisonment.

Little Poultry Farms Find Hard Going: Expert

Ithaca, N. Y., March 22 (AP)—It's getting harder for the little fellow to make a living in the poultry business, an expert reports.

Prof. Wendell Earle, a Cornell University marketing specialist, told a farm and home week audience today that there is a trend toward large-scale poultry operations. The trend is likely to continue, he said.

Earle said figures from a study of 36 New York poultry farms showed that a middle-sized farm with 2,300 laying hens brought in $2,500 a year for each worker's labor. He questioned whether a farmer could live on this alone.

Earle said the labor income was $5,300 on a farm with a flock of 5,500.

Four panelists disagreed vigorously yesterday on so-called "integration" deals for dairymen, a practice that is growing with the trend to larger farms.

Under integration, the farmer buys equipment, feed and hens, all on credit, in return for a guaranteed price and market.

Frank Humphrey of Middle Falls, an egg producer, denounced integration as "a conspiracy to sell feed and chicks."

Earle said that under such contracts, farmers "sign away their liberties."

A. William Jasper, managing editor of Poultry Tribune magazine, maintained, however, that a poultryman signing such a contract does not lose independence "any more than a white-collar worker when he goes to work for a private firm."

Charles K. Laurent, head of the poultry department at the University of Georgia, described integration as "an economic fact that must be faced."

Stevens Body Found

Sodus Point, N. Y., March 22 (AP)—The body of Paul W. Stevens, 40, of Rochester was found yesterday in Lake Ontario near the shore. Police said Stevens, an engineer at the Eastman Kodak Co., had been seen jumping from a bridge into the Genesee river in Rochester on Jan. 7.

As Pegler Sees It

He had wanted to come back and fish in fabulous Reelfoot lake and review his boyhood in the fragrance of red Tennessee ham and biscuits and chuckle at the sweet accents and the homely idiom of his own people.

The last time here, he had looked at the burial plot of the Tadales, the Blantons and the Whites, a 25-passenger patch more or less, and said they must all be sure to make it back to the family plot.

"Funeralize me with the home-folks, Maw, and the last one in is a rotten egg!"

We funeralized him on a sunny spring day, with the jaunty jonquils and the crocuses underfoot between the rows of graves and a cardinal yelling its cocky head off.

And since we turned away I have thought of his pleasure in Mark Twain's account of Captain Stormfield's visit to heaven. Captain Stormfield went to the quartermaster of heaven and demanded a halo, a harp and a set of wings, but the harp went "whang-g-g!" He fell ten million leagues on his first hop off a cloud because he didn't know how to fly and his halo fell away into space. On the whole, Captain Stormfield's first day in heaven was a very bad time.

Indicted for Robbery

Albany, N. Y., March 22 (AP)—Donald F. Farthing, 20, of Albany, was indicted yesterday on a charge of first-degree robbery in the holdup-stabbing of a woman in an office of the State Education Building. Farthing surrendered to police a week after the attack on Mrs. Francis B. Shaw Feb. 19. Police have said that he admitted stabbing her with a letter opener and stealing $20 from her purse. He is being held in the Albany county jail.

Town Notes

Ellenville, March 21 — Mr. and Mrs. Stephan Wardynski of 26 Warren street have purchased the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Truesdell at 27 Canal street through the offices of Vernon J. Kelder, attorney. They will take possession on or about May 1. Mr. Truesdell has accepted employment with IBM at Kingston and plans to move his family to the vicinity of his new employment at an early date.

Arthur F. Distel, construction foreman of the New York Tele-phon Company in this village is now working in the vicinity of Newburgh but is at home on weekends. In his spare time, Mr. Distel is working with a committee of the Ellenville Lions Clubs on plans for the construction of rest room facilities at the Little League Ball Park on the Berne road.

Mrs. Mabel C. Schoonmaker and daughter, Gladys Kelder, spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Grace DeGroat of Newburgh. Mrs. DeGroat is a sister of Mrs. Schoonmaker.

Lester H. Kelder and son, Cleon, spent the weekend at the home of his mother, Mrs. Arker Kelder in Napanoch.

The Board of Directors of the Wawarsing Sportsmen's Association met recently and decided to proceed with the construction of a clam bake shed as an annex to the club house at Honk Lake, west of Napanoch. They were authorized to spend up to $1,000 for materials and labor. It is believed by the board that no funds will have to be borrowed as plans have been made to raise the money from dinners and bakes. The board appointed a building committee to proceed with the construction. They are Ellsworth McDole, chairman, George Barthel and Elwood Hoff.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., March 22.—In 1950, our U. S. population was about 150,000,000. Today we are 170,000,000 strong and the prospect is that our rapid expansion in numbers will continue. The 20,000,000 more Americans added since 1950 are equivalent to twice the present population of the six New England states!

I am told that a baby is born in this country every eight seconds, and that, if present rates of increase continue, we could well have a population of 220,000,000 by 1975. This huge gain means that demand prospects for our products are good. Each new birth, each immigrant, and each person living a longer life than had previously been considered normal, adds to the potential demand that American manufacturers and merchants can attempt to satisfy.

This growth in population far exceeds earlier predictions. I well remember the experts telling us in the depression days of the thirties that the U. S. population would hit a peak—probably around 1980—and then decline. As I recall it, they thought that peak might be around 154,000,000—a mark we actually passed about five years ago!

Our Labor Force

The current boom in people is the result of an unexpectedly high birth rate and a steadily declining mortality. Modern medicine conquers many of the diseases which in the past have cut life short. Thus the area of our greatest population gain is among our senior citizens. The adults who form the labor force are a decreasing segment of the total population. That being the case, we should be more concerned about labor-management relations in future years. I forecast that labor-force growth may continue to lag the total population rise to an increasing degree during the next 20 years. This widening gap will create problems for management except as the automatic factory becomes a factor in the situation. This is especially true if too small a proportion of the labor force possess the scientific and engineering skills required to keep us abreast of technological developments.

Instead of paying too much attention to the expensive frills of education (as we do now), we need to encourage high school boys and girls to become scientists, chemists and engineers, as well as economists, business managers, merchants, and teachers. We ought to find out whether our schools are actually doing the type of educational job that needs to be done. If we do not mend our ways in this respect, we shall pay dearly in coming years for our foolishness.

More People, More Sales

Growth in population suggests a rising demand for products and services. However, we should not be too quick to assume that this increase will always be translated into actual buying power. Much will depend on the economic conditions during the years ahead.

More people will not necessarily mean more sales if the government does not curb its spending. Such spending makes for highly progressive taxes which undermine profits and cripple business incentive. Neither will more people mean more sales as a nation to the vast changes which are ahead. I have in mind the further development of atomic power, automation, speedier transport, and other new manufacturing and marketing techniques. Mere bigness in numbers and in potential resources will not assure our prosperity. Hence, my repeated emphasis on the need for more religious training of our children.

Are There Too Many People?

Our rapid population growth scares some folks. They fear we cannot produce enough food for all these people. I do not share those fears. We have learned during and since World War 2 how to step up our crop yield to levels not dreamed of a generation ago. We now have food and feed surpluses. Irrigation and phosphate can produce miracles. Surely more people in future years may well solve our current farm problem of overproduction. In fact, I forecast that the time is not far distant when we shall be eager to increase our farm output. We will step up our crop yields to new record highs through an intelligent use of irrigation and fertilizer and other soil and crop builders. I am optimistic about the future of American farmers.

Briefly Told

Gloversville, N. Y., March 22 (AP)—Fire Chief Harold Maxson believes there is a potential booby trap beneath every block in the business district of this Fulton county community.

He has asked residents to help the city locate underground gasoline tanks. Their whereabouts are unknown to city authorities.

The tanks could be exploded by unwitting construction workers, he said. "At least 20 years ago," Maxson said, "there were quite a few curbside pumps—at least one to every block in this business district—when the city ordered their abandonment."

Washington, March 22 (AP)—Rep. Clarence Kilburn (R-NY) yesterday endorsed a proposal to postpone or abandon construction of 200 million dollars worth of new facilities for Congress. Rep. Smith (R-Calif.) had called for a halt in the project, which would include a third congressional office building.

Washington, March 22 (AP)—Acting Postmaster Raymond W. Delaney is in line for presidential appointment as postmaster in Endicott, N. Y.

The Civil Service Commission announced yesterday that Delaney was the only eligible applicant for the 6,380-a-year post. John H. Haines was the only other candidate. Delaney has been holding the post under a temporary appointment.

Albany, N. Y., March 22 (AP)—Democratic Gov. Harriman urged Republican legislators today to follow through on what he said was a bi-partisan bid to create a temporary commission to survey historical sites.

Harriman's special message came after both the Senate and Assembly passed a Republican-sponsored proposal to acquire the Walt Whitman House in Suffolk county for historical purposes.

Harriman had asked the lawmakers to acquire the Walt Whitman House and to create the commission.

"In accordance with the spirit of my message and the nature of the subject," Harriman said, "the legislation involved was introduced on a bi-partisan basis."

The Democratic bill to create the commission is in Republican-controlled committee.

Olean, N. Y., March 22 (AP)—The president of the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. says that the St. Lawrence and Niagara power projects would furnish "only a fraction" of the power New York state will need in the next ten years.

Earl J. Machold told a Chamber of Commerce dinner audience here last night that more and more power will come from plants fueled by coal or nuclear energy.

He predicted that the St. Lawrence power "will be absorbed within the project's marketing area in a short time, probably within three years."

Massena, N. Y., March 22 (AP)—General Motors Corp. has set a June 1959 target date for the beginning of production of Chevrolet parts at its plant to be built near the St. Lawrence power project.

This is the same as the scheduled completion date for an 88-million-dollar aluminum reduction plant to be constructed nearby by the Reynolds Metals Co.

Officials of GM's Chevrolet Motor Division announced the target date yesterday after inspecting the site in the company of Reynolds executives.

Labor is the most important cost element in the marketing of dairy products.

BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

BLUE CAMELLIA

By Frances Parkinson Keyes

In this book, the author has again laid her scene in Louisiana, but this time it is in the rural Bayou country and about the men and women who plied their trade there. It is a tale about hardships endured and overcome by people of great industry and thrift, about adventurous, lively youth and of faithful hearts.

The story starts with a devoted couple, Brent and Mary Winslow, in their farm home in Illinois. Brent is only just recovering from a near-fatal bout with pneumonia and, from his sickbed worrying about the added burdens which his illness has put upon Mary.

Then, in the local newspaper, Brent reads an advertisement of a real estate agent offering land for sale in southwestern Louisiana. There is a glowing description of the fertility of the land, the mild healthful climate etc. To Brent, after years of struggling with thin soil, droughts and, above all the long cold winters and many snowstorms it seemed like Heaven. With Mary's willing consent he went to Louisiana and bought a piece of property in a remote section. Then, after selling his Illinois farm to one Johnathan Fant, a young, charming Southerner, who fortuitously appeared when a buyer was needed, Brent takes his little family to Louisiana.

This Johnathan Fant was an unusual character, doing the most surprising things, adding spice to the story at intervals. Oddly enough his New Orleans grandmother had once met Mary's mother and they had corresponded for years. So Johnathan wasn't the stranger he seemed.

In February, 1887 Brent, Mary and their little 9-year-old daughter, Lavinia, went by excursion train to Crowley, the nearest town to the place which Brent had bought. It was a miserable trip. The train was crowded, dirty and totally lacking in comforts of any kind—even the water gave out. The unfinished hotel in Crowley was a horror. The introduction to the new home was not auspicious. Mary, uncomplainingly accepted it all. She had complete confidence in her husband's good judgment.

In the years that followed she made the best of living in the primitive cabin which was their first home in Louisiana, helping her husband with his job as well as doing her own most competently. As soon as his profits from his rice growing made it possible, Brent added to his acreage and had a fine house built for Mary and Lavinia. With infinite patience he perfected the quality of his rice crops, experimenting, studying, measuring the small grains to select the best for seeding until he had many acres of high grade rice.

Meantime Mary scored two victories of her own. She achieved a beautiful year-round flower garden, including camellias, and she was able to persuade Brent to send Lavinia (for whom there was no nearby school) to the nearest convent school where, in spite of her late start, she accomplished supremacy over all others in her class, especially in classic French and music. She returned home a breathtakingly beautiful young girl, admired and courted by her childhood friends and neighbors.

Claude Villac and "Fleex" (Felix) Primeau. Claude was the steady, reliable one. Fleex was dynamic, gifted in music, unpredictable and altogether unsuitable as a husband. Of course Lavinia fell deeply in love with him. Fortunately for Lavinia, Fleex had the good sense to take himself out of the picture. He disappeared, telling no one where he was going and was not heard from for years.

Lavinia, desperately hoping she

NEEDLE-LESS WORK—These volunteer Red Cross workers in Chicago are attacking this haystack in search of—a needle. The stunt was held to dramatize the current fund-raising drive. A local firm promised a substantial contribution if the needle were found. But after much feverish searching the volunteers wearily conceded the old "like-finding-a-needle-in-a-haystack" simile still symbolizes the impossible.

might find Fleex, accepts an invitation secured for her by Claude's mother, Ann Villac, from the Labadies, a quaint brother and sister, music teachers in New Orleans. There in their charming maisonette Lavinia learns from the colored cook that Fleex is working on a banana boat which sometimes puts in at New Orleans. He used to be a guest of the Labadies but since he had become quite wild in his ways he was no longer welcome.

Lavinia hopes that he will sometime return but that hope dies. When she returns home Claude renews his suit and in a dramatic scene on her pilgrimage with Claude to the tomb of his ancestors she surrenders to his pleading and agrees to marry him.

That should be the happy ending, but more drama follows. Ten days after the wedding Ann Villac, tower of strength to her husband and their eight children as well as to Ursin Primeau, her husband's cousin, with whom they all live, and his four motherless children; dies after a lingering illness. But not until she has seen her dearest wish realized in the marriage of her oldest son to Lavinia and has secured promises which assure loving care of each of the children and assistance in realizing their ambitions.

To Lavinia, Ann's funeral arrangements according to Cajun traditions are appalling, and the long uncomfortable trip to the far-off cemetery near New Orleans through overgrown forests over almost impassable roads—in fact the hearse could not get through—exhausts them all. Claude agrees to Lavinia's plea to stay overnight at the Labadies while he goes on with the others, and there Fleex, tipped off by the cook, finds her asleep from exhaustion. Without knowing that she is married to Claude he wakes her with violent love making.

What happens after that is not for a reviewer to divulge lest the enjoyment of this dramatic tale be spoiled for the reader. Mrs. Keyes ends her story like a good symphony upon the same note with which it started.

The title of the book has come to represent to Brent and Mary a symbol of success. At long last Brent is justified in naming his precious rice "The Blue Camellia."

Training Group Names Officers, Adopts By-Laws

The Hudson-Mohawk Directors Society adopted a constitution and elected its first slate of permanent officers at its regular monthly meeting this week.

The society is composed of individuals working in their field of employ training in business industry or government throughout the central Hudson and the Mohawk valleys.

The new officers and the organizations they represent are as follows:

Kingston Group To Host Dorcas Federation Parley

The spring meeting of the Federation of Dorcas Societies of the Greater New York Conference will be held Sunday beginning at 10:30 a. m. in the Kingston Seventh-day Adventist Church, 30 Pearl street. Eleven Churches will participate in the day's activities.

Mrs. A. B. Heiser of New Paltz, president of the Federation, will preside, with Miss Gladys Kniffen of Middletown, secretary.

Civil Defense will be the subject of the meeting, with Rev. L. E. Esteb of South Lancaster, Mass., director of Welfare Services of the Atlantic Union Conference as the main speaker of the day. As well as speaking on Civil Defense and introducing a training program to the Dorcas members, the Rev. Mr. Esteb will show a film on Civil Defense.

Attending will be Mrs. Marie Ulloth, associate director of welfare work for the Greater New York Conference.

The Rev. Jamille Jacobs will have charge of the devotions and special music will be offered by Miss Joan Koeppen and also by Douglas Jacobs, five-year-old son of the pastor.

The Dorcas Society, under the leadership of Mrs. Martin Myburgh, will serve dinner to the Federation members in the church basement at noon. The meeting will continue to 3 p. m. It is expected that a large crowd will attend this meeting, said Pastor Jacobs, and all Kingston Dorcas Society members are urged to be present.

Onteora Forum To Hear Orser On Psychic Study

Two gifted psychics whose "occult" powers were investigated by scientific groups will be analyzed by James W. Orser at the Onteora Forum Wednesday, at 7:30 p. m. in Onteora Central School, Boiceville, William H. Deming, director of Adult Education, has announced.

This is the seventh in a series of 10 programs in the forum, which is open without charge to all area residents.

To Survey History

The history of scientific investigation into psychic phenomena, or parapsychology, will be surveyed by Mr. Orser, with particular emphasis on the studies made of Mrs. Piper and D. D. Home. He will also tell of some of the recent investigations in the field, indicating how they may tie in with theoretical work in both physics and psychology, and how the question, "What is psychic phenomena?" has been studied increasingly by a variety of persons from many different approaches.

Mr. Orser feels that this field is becoming more important because of some of the basic work being done in psychology and psychoanalytic theory relative to the unconscious. He has a theory that present work being done in study of the unconscious will substantiate some of the theoretical work done in the psychic field in past year.

Teaches Social Studies

Besides planning and moderating the Onteora Forum series, Mr. Orser teaches social studies and English in Onteora Senior High School. He holds an AB from Randolph-Macon College, Ashland, Va., where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa; a BD from Union Theological Seminary; and an MA from Columbia University.

He has taught in Virginia high schools and has been a staff member of Ferrum Junior College, Ferrum, Va., where he was director of Student Life Committee and instructor in Psychology and Philosophy. He has been a Methodist minister in the Virginia Methodist Conference.

He left this position to join the administrative staff of the New York Society for Ethical Culture, where he established Ethical Culture groups at the City College of New York and Columbia University, was director of Ethical Society college age programming, and director of child and youth programs in human relations. Mr. Orser has also lectured before various groups.

Moved to Woodstock

Mr. Orser and his wife moved to Woodstock in 1954 in order to get out of the city and pursue at a more leisurely pace his interest in philosophical and psychic ideas.

The last forum program, March 20, was a description of modern science and its meaning for modern man by Harvey W. Culp.

The remaining programs in the forum series are as follows: April 3—"Better Living, Country Style," an experiment in rural living for non-farm residents, industrial groups, and city dwellers who own "low income" farm land in Broome county—how they are learning to use their land for profit and pleasure—James Lawrence, Agriculture Department, Broome County Extension Service Association, Rural Development Program, assistant county agricultural agent.

April 10—"Who Are We, What Are We, and Where Are We Going?" a discussion on the nature of man, his place in the universe, and his goals—F. L. Kunz, executive director, The Foundation for Integrated Education, Editor, Main Currents in Modern Thought, world traveller and lecturer.

Injuries Are Fatal

Watertown, N. Y., March 22 (AP)—Wilfred Baker, 21, of (Barnes Settlement Road) Alexandria Bay, died last night in the House of the Good Samaritan Hospital of injuries suffered Wednesday when he fell from the rear bumper of a disabled automobile. State police at Alexandria Bay said Baker was standing on the bumper in an effort to keep the bumper of a pushing car from locking. The upsurge of the stalled car threw Baker to the pavement, police said.

New Paltz Area Methodist Notes

Supper-Meeting

The fourth quarterly conference or annual meeting of the three churches in the New Paltz Methodist Parish is being held this evening in the New Paltz Church.

The meeting, which will commence at 7:30 and will be presided over by the Rev. John Pearson, superintendent of the Newburgh District, is to be preceded by a family fellowship covered-dish supper in the social hall of the church. The supper is scheduled for 6:30, and all member families and friends are welcome and urged to attend. It is suggested that families from the Plutarch and Lloyd Churches bring desserts and those in New Paltz a variety of main course dishes.

Suffering Is Theme

The third in a series of Lenten sermons will be delivered by the Rev. Willett Porter at the 11 o'clock morning worship service of New Paltz Methodist Church Sunday. The theme of the service will center about the problem of suffering in our personal lives and the sermon will be titled "The Ministry of Pain," the Rev. Mr. Porter said.

The January to Easter church attendance crusade continues this third Sunday in Lent. A report of progress will be in the bulletin with responses during the Lenten season being especially gratifying. It is expected that the average church attendance will be well over the 200 mark during the crusade, he said.

The senior choir will sing at the service. Mrs. Eugene Trautwein will be at the Wicks Memorial Organ. The Margaret Newton Chimes will summon worshippers at 10:45 and to prayer each evening at 6:30.

Slate Film Showing

The theme of the morning worship service at the Methodist Church will be continued into the Sunday evening Lenten film service at 7:30.

The film to be shown, "Immortal Love," is from the television series "The Way" and concerns itself with a man who is told that he has but a short time to live. The Rev. Mr. Porter says, "In this film we can gain insight into the confronting of suffering and pain and eventual death in others and in ourselves—and what the church has to say about this age-old nemesis of humankind."

All are welcome at this service in the sanctuary of the church.

Mr. Davis to Preach

The 8:30 a. m. early morning worship service in New Paltz Methodist Church Sunday will be conducted by Kenneth H. Davis and Peter Jacobs. Mrs. William Schmalko is the organist. James Bates is in charge of ushering. Mr. Davis will preach the sermon entitled, "Above and Beyond the Call of Duty."

Paul's Letters Topic

The mid-week Lenten study continues Wednesday in the Methodist parsonage, 3 Grove street, with the study of "Paul's Letters to Local Churches" continuing. Mrs. Willett Porter is in charge of the series which is being developed from the Study Book by Bishop F. Gerald Ensey. The time of meeting is 1:30. All are welcome.

Has Large Enrollment

Over 75 workers have registered and the fourth session (six altogether) will take place Tuesday. The Rev. John Swords is dean; the Rev. Joseph Bailey, registrar; the Rev. Willett Porter, treasurer; the Rev. William Cosman, arrangement chairman; and the Rev. Sidney Parker, publicity.

Hotel Destroyed At Lake George

Lake George, March 22 (AP)—Fire today destroyed the Mayard Hotel, in the heart of the business district.

The 3-story, 80-room frame hotel was closed for the winter. Firemen from six surrounding communities helped Lake George firemen fight the fire, which broke out in the pre-dawn hours. There were no injuries.

Fire Chief Gilbert Herwerth said the cause of the fire had not been determined.

He said he could not estimate the damage. The hotel was owned by Mrs. Teresa Mayard and her son Charles. Both are in Miami, Fla.

Will Visit U. S.

Tokyo, March 22 (AP)—Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi today told U. S. Ambassador Douglas MacArthur II that he plans to visit the United States in June. In a 20-minute meeting, Kishi gave MacArthur his prospective schedule to be referred to Washington. The prime minister is expected to be away from Japan for two weeks and to spend three days in Washington talking with U. S. officials.

Widow Dies in Fall

New York, March 22 (AP)—Mrs. Bertha Offer, 76, was killed today when she jumped or fell from a window of her fourth-floor Manhattan west side apartment. The woman's body was impaled on a metal picket fence. Police said Mrs. Offer, a widow, lived alone.

Spinach is a native of northern Asia.

TELEPHONE MANNERS

The first letter in today's mail reads as follows: "I am a business woman. I not only get many calls at my office but receive many business calls at home as well. It seems to be more and more the custom in this area for people to call and say, 'Oh hello, Mary, if you are going to be home we'll drive over' or immediately launch into a conversation without identifying themselves. It has always been my understanding that one should announce who is speaking, unless it is a very close friend whose voice you would readily recognize. I confess I am no mind reader nor do I like to indulge in guessing games on the telephone. Will you please give me your opinion?"

I agree with you entirely, and certainly advise you to ask, "Who is this speaking?"

Inviting the Same Boy Twice

Dear Mrs. Post: I go to an all girls school and when we had our spring dance last year I invited a boy I know, but with whom I had never been out, to go with me. He accepted and we had a very enjoyable evening. I have seen him quite a few times since and he still hasn't asked me for a date, although he is very friendly. We will have our annual spring dance soon and I would like to know if it would be proper to invite this same boy to the dance, or might he get the idea that I am pursuing him?

Answer: I think a year apart would be very safe to ask him, and he could hardly think that you were pursuing him.

Thanks for Money

Dear Mrs. Post: I have just recently had a baby and would like to know how to acknowledge a gift of money. When writing thank-you notes for other presents one usually mentions the name of the gift, but is it proper to say, "thank you for the money?" This doesn't sound right to me and I would appreciate your telling me the correct thing to say.

Answer: The correct wording is, "Thank you for your very generous gift."

How should the olive or cherry in a cocktail be eaten? This and many other questions on table manners are answered in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-16, "Table Manners of Importance." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. ## Newspaper Published By Paltz Campus School

Eighth grade class members at the Campus School of the State University Teachers College, New Paltz, last week published the first issue of their Campus School newspaper.

Under the direction of Miss Gertrude Strobel, associate professor of the Campus School, the publication has been named "The Junior Oracle," and it contains articles submitted by pupils from the kindergarten through junior high school.

Miss Susan Baggerman, a college senior who was last year's editor of the college newspaper, assisted Miss Strobel and the eighth grade class. It is hoped that the newspaper can be published at regular intervals in the future.

Italian Premier Wins 8th Confidence Vote

Rome, March 22 (AP)—Premier Antonio Segni has won his eighth confidence vote of his 20 months in office.

The Socialists, who officially have ended their fellow-traveling, voted again with the Communist against the government. But the government's usually narrow margin was increased because the Monarchists and Fascists abstained.

The vote in the Chamber of Deputies last night was 287-207, with 49 abstentions. The issue was the appointment of Giuseppe Togni, a member of Segni's own Christian Democratic party, to the new post of minister of state participation in industry. The Socialists claimed this constituted a chance in the government requiring a test vote.

Distress Pilot Unhurt Three in Rescue Plane Killed in Air Collision

Moline, Ill., March 22 (AP)—Three men who climbed into a small plane to answer the distress call of another plane died yesterday in a collision of the two aircraft.

William Johnson, about 35, the pilot, alone in the distressed airplane, escaped unhurt. Only damage to his plane was a bent propeller and a few cabin scratches.

On Test Flight

Johnson was putting a two-engine Cessna through routine tests when he noticed that a cockpit signal light indicated the landing gear was not functioning.

He flew over the Quad-City airport and radioed the control tower.

A two-engine Aero Commander took off to help. It was manned by William Rissman, 34, of Muscatine, Iowa, head of the Aero-lines Flight Service; Chester Loose, 48, of Davenport, Iowa, a CAA maintenance man at the airport; and Marvin Jones, of Moline, Ill.

Bumped Into Plane

Authorities said the rescue plane attempted to maneuver close to the Cessna to examine the stricken plane's landing gear and apparently bumped into it. The Aero-Commander crashed immediately.

Johnson then found he was able to lower his landing wheels. He landed unhurt a few minutes later.

Both planes were owned by Deere & Co., farm machinery firm which maintains a fleet of five craft for use by company executives.

Hearing Is Closed On Fatal Coast Crash

Los Angeles, March 22 (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board concluded its public hearing into the cause of the airplane collision which sent a big transport spinning into a school yard Jan. 31.

The four men on the plane and three school boys were killed. Flying wreckage hurt 76 others.

Col. Harmer D. Denny, member of the CAB, said its findings probably will be published in six or eight weeks after an evaluation of evidence given at the hearing that ended yesterday.

A four-engine Douglas DC7 and an F89 Northrup jet interceptor, both being flown on check flights by their manufacturers, collided at 25,000 feet.

Kunst Will Open Brokerage Office

Gerard H. Kunst, of 93 Andrew street, announced today that he will operate a stock brokerage office at 277 Fair street.

A native of Kingston, he attended local schools, and is an alumnus of New York University. He was recently associated with the firm of Bache & Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange, as a customer's broker.

In his office here, Mr. Kunst will handle all listed and unlisted securities, and will maintain a complete mutual funds department, offering a variety of investments.

The office will be open for business starting March 26. Office hours will be from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., Monday through Thursday and will remain open until 9 p. m., on Fridays.

Alexander Hamilton, his father and his 19-year-old son all were killed in duels.

School Consolidation Explained Signing Petition Necessary For Action by Commissioner

There has been a great deal of discussion lately about the proposed "Greater Kingston Consolidated School District." A committee has been formed to explain the proposal to the people of the rural school districts which surround the City of Kingston, and a number of meetings have been held in these districts. In addition to this, meetings have been held at the Ulster County Court House to discuss the proposal. Since the great majority of people in this area are not able to attend all of these meetings, a series of short articles explaining the proposal and its effect on our schools has been prepared to run serially in "The Freeman."

Formation Procedure
The term "enlarged city school district" is used in the law to designate the district which is formed when those rural school districts which surround a small city, up to 125,000 population, join with that city to form one large school district. The formation of such a school district is usually referred to as "consolidation." Of course, a consolidation of school districts can occur when a city is not involved, but that is covered under a different section of the law. One form of consolidation is known commonly as "centralization." This is the type of consolidation which has been proposed for most of the rural areas of our state. The Ontario, New Paltz, Rondout Valley, Saugerties, and Highland Centralizations are representative of this form of consolidation.

The proposed Greater Kingston Consolidated would consist of the present Kingston City school district and the 30 rural school districts which surround the city and are bounded by the centralizations listed above, all joined together to form a single, enlarged city school district. This movement had been started some time ago following the closing of the school just west of the U & D railroad viaduct, to acquire that property for a firehouse. It had been learned that through abandonment of the property for school purposes, the premises would not revert back to the original owner and could be acquired for other than school use.

Formation of a fire district in the area has been under consideration for some time Mr. Smith said, and knowing this he had purchased the Woodstock engine.

Would Use School
"If the people in this area will get together and form a fire company to give this area protection, I will donate the engine to the company. It is in excellent condition," he said. He also said he would seek to hold a meeting in the near future to discuss the matter of forming a fire district and acquiring the abandoned schoolhouse as a firehouse. Volunteer work could place the building in condition for use as a firehouse and he cited the fact that the school is almost directly in the center of the proposed fire district.

Two Recent Fires
The area along Route 28-A and 28 east of West Hurley to the Kingston city limits has been referred to as "no man's" land so far as fire protection is concerned. There have been two serious fires in the area recently which might have been less severe had adequate fire protection been available.

Mr. Smith said he was particularly interested in that portion of School District No. 5 which is now outside the presently organized fire area. The area proposed as a new fire district is that portion of the school district along Route 28 and 28A.

new district would be governed by a single board of education and would operate under the supervision of one superintendent. The single large district would provide equal educational opportunity for all students of the district and would apportion the cost of the program equitably among the taxpayers of the district. A single transportation system would be operated, and more equitable travel-time would be imposed on the pupils, since each pupil would attend the school nearest his home.

Petitions Circulated
Petitions regarding the proposed consolidation are now being circulated in several districts. Since you may be asked to sign one of these petitions before this series is finished, it seems desirable to explain the purpose of the petition briefly at this time. It will be covered in detail in a later article. The petition requests the commissioner of education to lay out a possible enlarged city school district around the City of Kingston and further requests him to include your present school district within the boundaries. Your signature on this petition is not a promise to vote for or against consolidation. It is necessary that a majority of the eligible voters within each district sign the petition to ensure the commissioner will act. If no district were laid out, it would be impossible for any discussion to be exact or any intelligent vote to be held. Since your signature on the petition does not commit your vote, and since a majority of voters must sign so that this proposal can be brought to an election, you are urged to sign this petition when it is offered.

Each of the points listed above, and others as well, will be covered in detail in future articles. The next article will explain the "Master Plan" for school district reorganization.

No Trace Found

agency radio transmitters for broadcasting SOS signals.

Boats Keep Lookout
Throughout the day, however, monitors picked up no distress calls. By nightfall more than 40 planes and ships had joined in the search and dozens of Japanese fishing boats were asked to keep a lookout.

The Japanese patrol craft Muroto radioed that it was only 80 miles from the plane's last reported position and had seen nothing.

Hope was raised briefly by an Air Force report that an object "resembling a life raft" had been spotted about at the plane's last reported position. But soon after the Air Force said the object had been positively identified as an overturned boat not connected with the missing aircraft.

May Have Gone Down
One expert said if the plane did ditch in 30-foot seas, it almost certainly cracked up and sank quickly, possibly before life rafts could be launched.

"Only God could ditch successfully in seas like that," he said. The C97 was the eighth large plane to go down in the Far East since Feb. 22. In the seven previous crashes, 85 persons were listed as dead or missing, including President Ramon Magsaysay of the Philippines.

Some Names Listed
Travis Air Base announced the names of seven men and one woman in the plane crew, withholding the name of the other two crewmen until their families were notified. Most of the addresses given were in towns near the base.

The names announced were: Maj. Ardis L. Crumpton, the aircraft commander, Vacaville, Calif.; Lt. Col. Kirk R. Mitchell, Vacaville; Capt. Ernest K. Thomas Jr., Fairfield, Calif.; and Providence, R. I.; Lt. James M. Rosen, Los Angeles; M. Sgt. Donald P. Gunner, Fairfield; T. Sgt. William A. Goudy, Fairfield; Miss Carolyn Meyer, Airman 3C, Gordon, Ga., and Airman 1C, Allen Bell, Vacaville.

KHS Freshmen Discuss Careers With Engineers

Fifty-six Kingston High School freshmen met recently with seven area engineers for a program on careers in mathematics, science and engineering.

This educational service was provided by the Mid-Hudson Science Advisory Council and arranged by Frank Bourke, a mechanical engineer at Hercules Powder Company. Assisting Mr. Bourke were the following: Warren Eckels, chemical engineer at Hercules; Thomas Cerwonka, mechanical engineer, also from Hercules; Johann Aalto, civil engineer with the New York City Water Supply; Richard Counihan and Francis Stern-Montagny, both electrical engineers at International Business Machines Corporation; Gary Giedd, a physicist from IBM.

Following an opening address by Mr. Stern-Montagny, the meeting broke up into smaller discussion groups with eight students to each scientist or engineer. Here they further explored, on a more personal basis, the points Mr. Stern-Montagny introduced to them concerning the requirements, opportunities and thrills of such careers.

This program will be repeated March 28 for the benefit of another group of 50 freshmen.

DA Seeks Ouster Of Official in Dutchess County

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., March 22 (AP)—Dutchess County Dist. Atty. Raymond C. Baratta today began action to have a Beekman town supervisor removed from office for alleged negligence and improper administration.

Baratta said Willis R. Place, a Republican who has served 12 years as supervisor, failed to keep accurate financial records and drew on highway funds without the order of the highway superintendent. He said he conducted his affairs in a negligent and improper manner.

Baratta filed an application for Place's removal in the Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court in Brooklyn, charging him with "misconduct, maladministration and malfeasance."

Place was cited last year by the State Department of Audit and Control for overpaying himself more than $2,600 between 1954 and 1956.

Place has since repaid the money to the town.

Pleads Innocent

New York, March 22 (AP)—A Port Chester, N. Y., youth has pleaded innocent to a federal indictment charging him with the kidnap-rape of an 18-year-old Harrison, N. Y., girl. The youth, Frank Lennon, 18, appeared yesterday before Judge Thomas F. Murphy. He was held in $2,500 bail. Others under indictment in the case are Vincent J. Marmion, 22, of Byram, Conn.; William Tomonto, 24, a bulldozer operator, and Rocco John Lafaro, 15, both of Port Chester. They will enter pleas next Tuesday.

Saint Stephen was the first Christian martyr.

New Quake Recorded

Pailades, N. Y., March 22 (AP)—The Lamont Observatory of Columbia University today recorded an earthquake in the vicinity of the Aleutian Islands. The observatory described the shocks as among the most severe in a three-week sequence in that area. The first was recorded at 9:33:10 a. m. and the second at 9:41:12 a. m. The distance was estimated at 4,100 miles northwest of here.

Staatsburg, Fishkill Triumph in Kingston Cage Tourney

Newburgh and Port Jervis Are Eliminated

Dutchess county quintets prevailed over Orange fives at the municipal auditorium last evening in second night action in the Kingston Basketball Tournament.

Staatsburg American Legion shaded Economy Cleaners of Newburgh in the opening game, 68-66, in overtime, and in the nightcap, Van Vooris Lumber of Fishkill breezed through Culver Motors of Port Jervis, 125-71.

Buddy Herrmann paced Staatsburg to its thrilling triumph, scoring the winning basket and hitting for 20 points in all. The payoff bucket climaxed a tremendous uphill battle against the star-spangled Newburghers.

With former NFA great Dick Tyler leading the way, the Cleaners led almost all the way. They surged to a 25-16 first quarter lead, but the Legionnaires tied it at halftime 28-28 as Newburgh scored just three points. A 16-9 spree carried Economy into the final period on top 44-37.

Tying Shot

In the fading moments of the game, Pete Van Kleek pitched in a jump shot to knot the count at 60-60 and send it into the extra period. Van Kleek and Tom Murphy scored before Herrmann's crusher.

Tyler, who is home on leave from Fort Monmouth, netted 20 to tie Herrmann for scoring honors. Newburgh's Jack Fanning and big Jim Cook each hit 12. Joe Hollin and George Kohler of the losers and Staatsburg's Murphy and Bob Blake each notched 10.

Van Vooris packed too many guns for Port Jervis, and went behind Art Kalaka's 31. Clem Caparara's 26 and Chuck Roper's 23. Jim Winterberg chipped in with 17 and Charlie Johnson, of Poughkeepsie High fame, 12.

Ryder Leads

Bob Habig canned 18, one less than Bob Ryder who paced the losers. Bob Lake, Goshen Central coach, made 17.

Fishkill led through every period by 34-8, 62-38 and 90-45. Next action is Sunday night. The lid-opener matches Buss All Stars against Duso Sales Co. and the windup, Stewart Field versus Stamford (Conn.) American Legion.

Berrios 7-5 Over Costa

New York, March 22 (AP)—Cocky Miguel Berrios, nicknamed "Little Devil" by his Latin-American rooters, pits his aggressive style against the smooth boxing of Brooklyn's clever Carmelo Costa tonight in the first round of the feather-weight elimination tournament. The 24-year-old, 5-2 Puerto Rican is the 7-5 choice to win the radio-television (NBC 10 p. m., EST) 12-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

After this opener, the winner will take on Nigeria's Hogan (Kid) Basse, British Empire 126-pound titlist, in the semifinals. The semifinal victor then will face France's Cherif Hamia, the European king, for the title vacated by retired Sandy Saddler.

Hamia, who outpointed both Berrios and Costa in an American tour last year and is the stickout of the division, was given a pass into the final round by the world boxing committee and NBA which set up the tourney. The world committee is composed of the New York Athletic Commission, the European Boxing Union and the British Board of Boxing Control.

To Appeal Decision

Aragon Faces Jail Term Of From One-Five Years

Los Angeles, March 22 (AP)—Art Aragon's colorful boxing career was apparently ended today as he faced a prison term of one to five years for trying to fix a fight.

His attorneys said they would appeal the decision. The heavy blow to Aragon's hopes was delivered by Superior Judge Herbert V. Walker, who rejected a defense plea for a new trial and an official recommendation for probation.

"We have here a man who has attained an enviable reputation in the boxing world," said Judge Walker, fixing a stern gaze on the 29-year-old fighter. "Of all persons, he should be a clean sportsman and a representative of a clean sport—or one which should be clean. Crimes of this nature are not small crimes."

Guilt of Bribe

Aragon, a hard-hitting crowd pleaser nicknamed The Golden Boy, was found guilty a month ago of offering Dick Goldstein $500 to fake a fourth-round knockout in a bout scheduled for last Dec. 18 in San Antonio, Tex. The fight was called off when Aragon turned up ill.

Aragon's attorney, Jules Covey, in a three-hour plea for a new trial yesterday, called Goldstein an "unmitigated liar" and said he could prove his charge in another trial.

He was answered by Dep. Dist. Atty. William Ritz, who said that in last month's trial, Aragon "spun himself a web from which it is impossible to extricate him." Covey sought to bolster his plea for a new trial with an affidavit from an acquaintance of Goldstein's who swore that Goldstein told him Aragon was innocent and that the bribe offer had never been made.

Goldstein's Affidavit

The prosecution countered with an affidavit from Goldstein denying that the conversation had taken place.

The judge said he was rejecting a recommendation that Aragon be placed on probation because the fighter gave no indication that he realized he had committed a crime.

The former third-ranking welterweight wept openly during the trial, but showed no emotion as Judge Walker pronounced sentence. Aragon is married, the father of three children.

Wawarsing Club Stocks Streams

Members of the Wawarsing Sportsmen's Association and representatives of the New York State Conservation Department distributed trout in area Ellen-ville streams last Friday.

The club reported the trout were distributed as follows:

Homowack creek, about 2,000 brown trout; Vernooy Kill Creek, 1,500 brown trout; Beer-kill creek, about 900 brown trout; West Sprout creek, about 850 brook trout; Beerkill (west branch) about 1,300 brown trout; Rondout creek, from Napanoch up about 1,000 brook trout.

The committee which stocked the streams included James Henry, John Meier, Pat McConnell, Willard Cox, Ted Schultz and Robert Deschambeault. They were accompanied by Game Protector Fredenburgh.

The Sportsmen's Club noted that they stock streams in that area every spring and fall.

The association held a meeting at its Honk Lake clubhouse, Napanoch, last week.

President George Barthel named the following standing committees for the year: Building and grounds, Elwood Hoff, chairman; Game committee, Art Terwilliger, chairman, Horace Everett and Ben Kelly; Fish committee, Lewis Brooks, chairman; Willard Cox, James Henry, Philip Odenbroun and Adna Holmes. Other committees will be appointed this month.

Burkemo Wins Pro-Am Golf

Miami Beach, Fla., March 22 (AP)—Another $5,000 pro-amateur golf tourney beckoned today to touring pros who shared prize money with winning Walter Burkemo in the $5,000 Coral Ridge tournament.

A $7,500 two-day open follows the Miami Beach Pro-Am. Burkemo indicated he would not compete, but fly home Sunday.

Burkemo set a three-under-par competitive course record yesterday in taking $700 first money with a 68 on the Coral Ridge Country Club's 6,579-yard layout at Fort Lauderdale. His round was 34-34.

The Franklin Hills, Mich., star was two strokes under his deadlocked nearest competitor, Ed Furgol of St. Andrews, Ill., and Jay Hebert of Sanford, who pulled down $450 each.

Mauhs Prefers Lake Placid Run
Albany, March 22 (AP)—Conservation Commissioner Sharon Mauhs says California's new Squaw Valley bobsled run will be no match for the Olympic run at Lake Placid.

Mauhs scoffed yesterday at California's claim that the artificially refrigerated concrete-chute Squaw Valley run would be the fastest in the world.

Mauhs said he welcomed the California competition. He reported some New York bobsled experts would be "loaned" to California next summer to give technical advice on the project, being built for the 1960 Olympics.

The commissioner, who has driven a sled down the Lake Placid run, said: "Concrete chutes, artificially refrigerated, don't make world records. Only drivers do that—and New York has the drivers."

Amherst, Mass., March 21—Amherst College today announced election of Bill Warren, high scoring center for two seasons, as the 1957-58 basketball captain. Warren, a pre-medical student, is the son of Judge and Mrs. F. E. Warren, of Leipsic, Ohio.

Memphis State, Bradley in NIT Final

St. Bonaventure, Temple Ousted

New York, March 22 (AP)—When the pressure is toughest give the ball to Bob Swander of Memphis State and Yorktown, Indiana. Three times this season he has won games with last second points.

He showed how he did it last night scoring a field goal with less than one second left to give Memphis State an 80-78 overtime victory over St. Bonaventure in the semifinals of the National Invitation (NIT) basketball tourney.

The victory put the "dark horse" Tigers in Saturday afternoon's TV final against second seeded Bradley, which crushed Temple 94-66 in the other semi.

Howling Crowd

A howling turnout of 16,731 saw Swander sink the crusher against the valiant Bonnies, who had come from behind to tie the regulation game at 76-76 and go ahead in the overtime on Larry Weisse's layup. Jack Butcher tied it at 78-78 then Memphis State went into a stall.

The Tigers called time out with 52 seconds to go. They continued to freeze the ball until a few seconds were left. Then they shot and missed. The rebound came to Swander in sidetrack. He wrestled it away from a horde of Bonnies and flipped in the jump shot that won the game in dramatic fashion.

Froze Ball

"We froze the ball trying to give it to Swander, Win Wilfong or Butcher," explained Bob Vanatta, Memphis coach, in the dressing room. "I thought Swander was clobbered when he got that rebound, but it is nothing new for him to win games like that. He did it during the season against Marquette and Western Kentucky."

The Bonnies were hindered by the loss of Don Newhook, who suffered a stretched ligament against Seattle Tuesday. He played only a few minutes at the start of each half.

The Bradley-Temple game was a letdown after the exciting first game. Temple stayed close at 37-33 until near the end of the first half. Then Bradley broke the game wide open the same as the Braves did against Xavier of Ohio Tuesday.

Shoots 60 Per Cent

"How are you going to lick a team that hits close to 60 per cent of their shots?" asked Temple coach Harry Litwak afterwards. He referred to Bradley's making 35 of 60 shots from the field.

Saturday's final presents a sort of pupil against master design. Vanatta coached at Bradley last year where Bradley's present coach, Chuck Osborn was his assistant and freshman coach. Who will win? Here's an opinion from Litwak:

"I think Bradley will do it. They got the speed, good personnel and good shooters."

Shongun Rallye Slated Saturday

A joint "rallye," sponsored by the Shongun Mountain Motor Club of Ellenville and the Middletown Sports Car Club will be held Saturday night beginning at 8 p. m. and continuing until 8 a. m. Sunday.

There will be a mandatory one hour break during the night in order that participants and cars may get a rest.

The rallye will assemble for the start at the new parking lot at the Channel Masters Corp. and will terminate in the vicinity of Middletown.

The rallye is open to all cars of any make or style since speed is not a determining factor in scoring points. Each car will have a navigator and driver. A pencil, paper and watch are required for each navigator for navigation data purposes.

Carl Connor of Kerhonkson is in charge of publicity and the rallye master will be Percy Krom of Ellenville.

Celts, Hawks Get Jump

(By The Associated Press)

The Boston Celtics, who had been eliminated in three of four previous playoffs by the Syracuse Nationals, were 1-up today on their New York rivals as they awaited the second game of the National Basketball Assn.'s best-of-five Eastern Division semifinal playoff series.

While the Celtics were rallying after a poor first period to clobber the Nats 108-90 at Boston last night, the Hawks had to hustle at St. Louis to take their Western Division opener from the Minneapolis Lakers 118-109.

Syracuse led the disorganized Celtics after one period, 27-22, but Bill Russell and Arnie Risen then entered the game and Boston began to click, running up a 53-44 halftime lead, and boosting it to 83-64 after three periods.

Russell collected 31 rebounds and 16 points, while Frank Ramsey scored 20, Tom Heinsohn 19, and Bob Cousy 18 for Boston. Dolph Schayes got 21 for Syracuse, making 15-for-5 from the foul line.

Bob Pettit, who has been playing three weeks with his fractured wrist in a cast, scored 14 of his 22 points in the final quarter to help the Hawks overcome Minneapolis.

Logan, Covington Each Drive 3 Homers in Braves' Victory

(By The Associated Press)

Johnny Logan, star Braves shortstop, may have been thinking of John Wesley Covington the other day when he suggested that Milwaukee's National League pennant chances would brighten considerably "if the guys in leftfield" would improve their batting averages.

On the other hand, Logan and manager Fred Haney also may be putting the old squeeze play on Bobby Thomson, so the former New York Giant will start worrying about his job.

Wes Covington, who as a rookie in 1956 appeared mainly in pinch hit roles but played 35 games in the outfield, undoubtedly is keeping his antenna tuned in on the situation.

3 Homers Apiece

Anyway, Covington socked three homers yesterday as did Logan, each driving in five runs as the Braves overpowered the Chicago White Sox 10-7.

Several days ago Haney, who has Hank Aaron in right and Bill Bruton in center, said his leftfielder hadn't been decided upon. He just might make it an A-B-C combination, with Covington supplying the needed power if he can handle the fielding chores.

"All I ask is a .285 hitter in left," Haney said. The 1956 averages show that Thomson batted .235 and Covington, .283 in 75 games.

Covington came up to Milwaukee after hitting .326 with Jacksonville, Fla., to lead the South Atlantic League in 1955.

Other Scores

In other exhibitions, the New York Giants defeated the Baltimore Orioles 2-1; the St. Louis Cardinals ended a four-game losing streak at the expense of the New York Yankees 9-2; the Chicago Cubs edged the Cleveland Indians 5-4; the Brooklyn Dodgers rallied to turn back the Kansas City A's 6-3; the Detroit Tigers whipped the Washington Senators 9-2; and the Cincinnati Redlegs had their second big day in a row, thumping the Philadelphia Phillies 13-10.

The Redlegs, who drubbed the Yankees 20-6 Wednesday with 25 hits, collected 22 against the Phils, including a homer by Hal Beyer. Ted Kazanski, Roy Smalley, John Kennedy and Joe Lonnett homered for the Phils.

Frank Bolling slammed a three-run homer and two-run triple for Detroit, and Frank Lary held the Senators scoreless with three-hit ball for six frames.

Trio Checks Yanks

Herm Wehmeier, Larry Jackson and Hoyt Wilhelm limited the Yankees to five hits, while the Cards scored six unearned runs on three errors.

A triple by Eddie Bressoud with a mate aboard, and a sacrifice fly broke up a scoreless game in the seventh between the Giants and Orioles.

Homers accounted for all five Cub runs against Cleveland. Ernie Banks drove in three runs with two round trippers, and Gene Baker hit a two-run homer.

Al Smith and Sam Mele homered for Cleveland.

Charlie Neal and Don Zimmer each hit a two-run homer in the seventh to wipe out a 3-0 Athletic lead and the Dodgers added two more in the eighth. Lou Skizas homered for Kansas City.

Gallardo Quits Ring After TKO

Los Angeles, March 22 (AP)—Undeclared Irish Bobby Scanlon of Buffalo, N. Y., stopped Davey Gallardo of Los Angeles last night and put an end to the fistic career of the one-time featherweight title contender.

The 21-year-old Scanlon, scoring his 24th straight victory, pounded out a technical knockout triumph in six rounds. There were no knockdowns.

Gallardo, who had 85 fights in 10 years, announced that he was retiring. He once was rated No. 2 as a contender for the world featherweight crown and had held the California featherweight title.

Scanlon jabbed open a bad gash over Gallardo's left eye in the fourth round. In the sixth, referee Charley Randolph interrupted the bout for a medical inspection of the cut. A physician allowed Gallardo to continue. He finished the round but could not come out for the seventh.

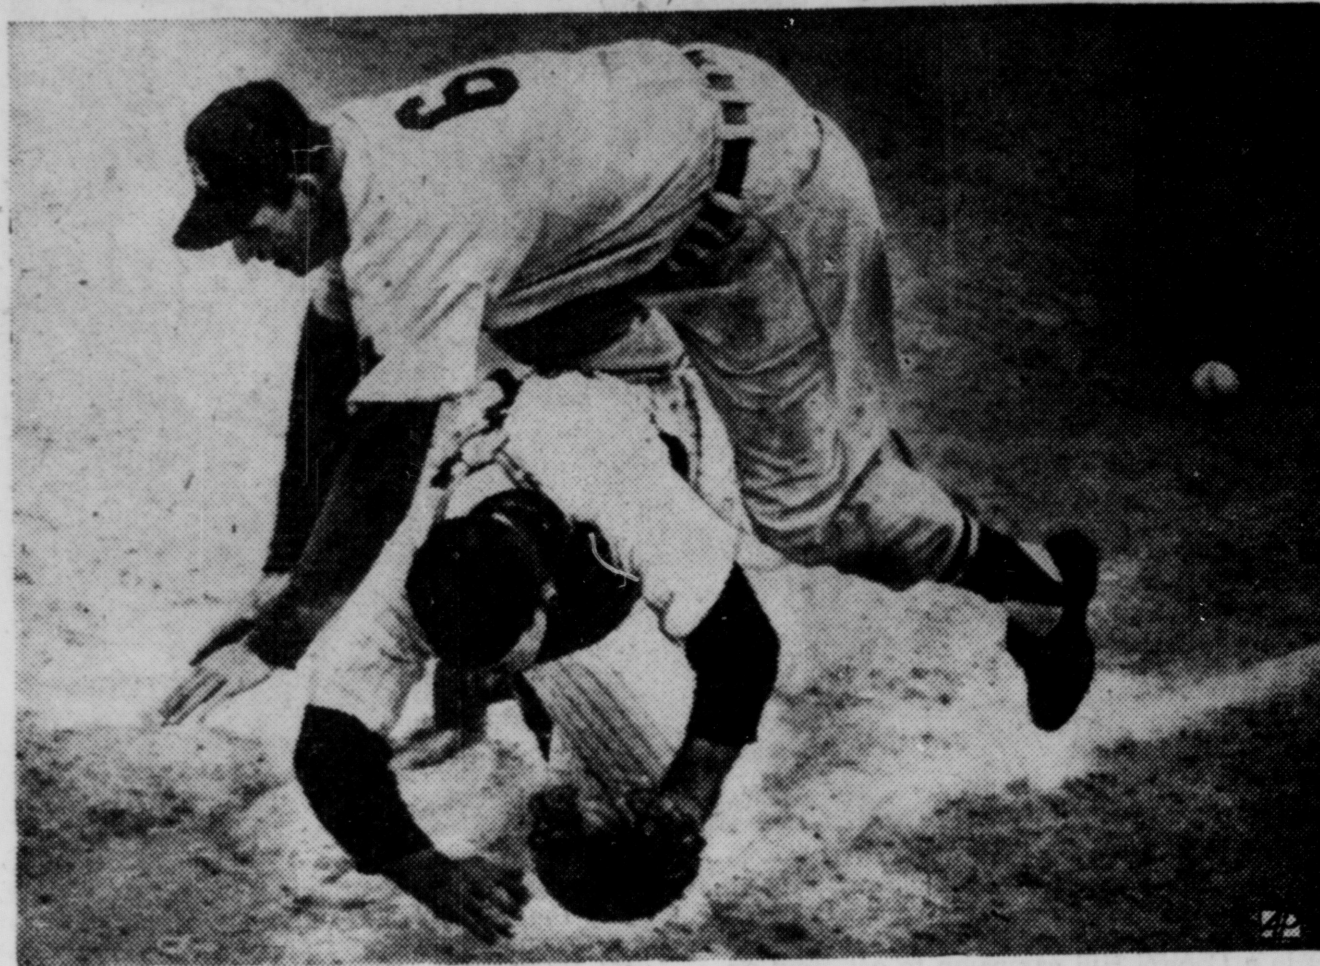

The referee awarded Scanlon a sixth-round TKO. He said it had been determined before the start of the seventh that Gallardo's eye was in such condition he could not continue fighting.

Scanlon weighed 131½, Gallardo 135½.

Baseball Executives Meeting with Frick

Belleair, Fla., March 22 (AP)—Baseball's executive clan, voicing mixed emotions over pending congressional inquiry into whether they are sportsmen or businessmen, meet in a closed-door, special session with Commissioner Ford Frick today to draft future policy.

While no announcement of what takes place at the meeting is expected, it was learned that organized baseball will set up a three-man committee to meet with congressional leaders to discuss what baseball must do—or stop doing—to remain free from antitrust legislation.

Assembly Votes To Give More Aid To State Tracks

Albany, March 22 (AP)—Legislation to provide more money for race tracks from pari-mutuel betting—and more racing days to collect it—was a step closer today to becoming law.

The Assembly yesterday passed bi-partisan bills that would give the thoroughbred tracks four million dollars—about 25 percent—more than under the present schedule, and that would extend the legal racing season from 197 to 210 days.

The Senate next week is expected to pass the measures, supported by leaders of both parties. Gov. Harriman has been reported willing to approve them.

Vote Is 104-34

The Assembly vote on the bill to increase the track's share of the betting pool was 104 to 34. The dissenters were spread about evenly between the two parties. The measures are designed to help the tracks finance a multi-million dollar construction program including a "dream" track at Aqueduct.

The state and the tracks divide a pool made up of 15 percent of the pari-mutuel receipts. Under the present arrangement, the four New York city tracks take four per cent of the pool and Saratoga gets five. The bill would increase the city tracks' share to five and the Saratoga share to six.

The racing days' bill won unanimous approval. Both measures are sought by the Greater New York Assn., non-profit operator of the tracks.

Spa Gets Go-Ahead The Assembly Rules Committee last night gave the green light to a bill that would guarantee at least 24 days of racing at Saratoga, during which period meets would be forbidden at New York. This is the present practice.

The bill, sponsored by Republican John Ostrander of Saratoga county, would allow the State Racing Commission to cut back Saratoga only if the governor determined that an "emergency" required a Saratoga cut-back.

Republican Sen. E. Ogden Bush of Delaware county is sponsor of a companion measure in the other house.

Bruins, Canucks Again Deadlocked

(By The Associated Press)

Boston and Montreal head into their final game of the regular National Hockey League season tied for second place with the same number of points and identical in victories but with the Canadians holding the all-important advantage in goals scored. The Bruins deadlocked the issue again last night when they blanked the pennant-winning Detroit Red Wings 2-0 in the circuit's only game. Boston and Montreal each had 80 points and 34 victories.

Should the Canadians beat the last place Chicago Black Hawks Saturday and Boston turn back New York Sunday, the stalemate will be broken by the number of goals scored. And in this department the Canadians currently hold a 14-goal margin.

State Women Keglers Open Shooting Tonight

Elmira, N. Y., March 22 (AP)—The 24th annual New York State Women's Bowling Assn. tournament opens here tonight with a record 1,884 out-of-town teams registered.

The tourney continues at two local alleys through May 26 with most of the action on week-ends.

With 114 Elmira teams, the total team entry list is 1,998. There are 3,328 doubles entries and 6,698 women have registered for singles competition. Prize money totals $46,798.

Nicol Gains in ABC

Fort Worth, Tex., March 22 —Ralph Nicol of Lansing, Mich., shot a 9-game total of 1885 yesterday to take over second in the American Bowling Congress all events, currently led by John Crimmins of Detroit with 1922. Nicol rolled series of 655, 607 and 623. Andrew Hudoba of Youngstown, Ohio, crashed into third in the singles standings with 685.

Trenton Cagers Gain in Tourney

Newport, R. I., March 22 (AP)—Top seeded Trenton, N. J., Catholic has moved into the quarter-finals of the 20th annual Eastern State Catholic schoolboy basketball tournament.

Trenton ousted Sacred Heart of Yonkers, N. Y., last night, 76-62. Sacred Heart proved a stubborn opponent. Trenton led by only 28-25 at halftime and the losers took a 46-42 lead late in the third period.

When the third quarter ended Trenton had recovered the lost ground and the score was 46-41. Then Trenton moved ahead powerfully in the final period to victory. John Samonsky of Trenton was high scorer with 24 points.

7-Inch Snow Helps Skiing.

Albany, N. Y., March 22 (AP)—The State Commerce Department yesterday reported seven inches of new snow at the Bearpen Mountain skiing area on top of a base varying from 0 to 17 inches in depth. Skiing was rated from fair to poor.

The only other site to report was Snow Ridge, where there was two inches of wet snow on a base ranging from 0 to 4 inches. Skiing there was rated from none to poor.

Trapshooting Circuit Meeting on Tuesday

A meeting of Ulster County Trapshooting circuit is slated for next Tuesday at Ulster County Court House at 8 p. m. according to announcement by Chairman Howard Mosher of New Paltz.

Clubs having trap field facilities and anyone else interested in trap shooting are invited to attend the session. New Paltz, Glasco and Lake Katrine fields were used last year. Plans are for other gun clubs this year to open their fields to the circuit.

North Carolina, Kansas Favored to Gain Finals

Kansas City, March 22 (AP)—North Carolina's all-winning, indefatigable iron men and Kansas, with a 7-foot giant who stuffs rather than shoots the ball into the basket, are favorites to gain the final round of the National Collegiate (NCAA) basketball tournament tonight.

North Carolina, ranked No. 1 in the nation on its 30-0 record, tangles with Michigan State in the opening semi-final game at Municipal Auditorium at 8:30 (EST).

Kansas sends its celebrated ace, Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, against San Francisco's defending champions two hours later.

Kansas Top Choice

The presence of Chamberlain, the most exciting basketball player of the generation, has made Kansas the choice for the title.

The star-spangled lineup raised tournament interest to an all-time pitch. North Carolina and Kansas finished the season one-two in the national Associated Press basketball poll. San Francisco has won the tournament the past two years. Michigan State is the "Cinderella team," having knocked off third-ranked Kentucky in the eliminations.

Reaves Peters, tournament director, said he easily could have sold 50,000 tickets. But the auditorium seats only 10,500 for basketball. NCAA officials still were scrambling today to get part of the show on TV.

Coaches Confident

The four coaches all appeared highly confident.

"We feel we can beat anybody," said Fordy Anderson, the little wizard who masterminded Michigan State to a blazing finish of ten straight wins in the regular season.

The Spartans use what Anderson calls a "continuous motion offense." They have strength and drive but lack exceptional height. Their tallest men are Johnny Green and Larry Hedden at 6-5. Jack Quiggle and George Ferguson are 6-3 and Pat Wilson is a 6-footer.

Tar Heels Lack Depth

North Carolina boasts height, speed and shooting strength but lacks reserves. It usually plays five men all the way. The star is Len Rosenbluth, a 6-5 marksman with a deadly eye. He has adequate support from such all-around operators as Tom Kearns and Pete Brennan. Joe Quigg, 6-9, is as close as they can come to Chamberlain.

"Our boys are trained to run 40 minutes," said coach Frank McGuire. "They don't get tired. We only substitute when a boy fouls out, which isn't often."

Phil Wolpert, who coached San Francisco's great national champs last year when he had Bill Russell for a star, called the present squad "comparable in defense but not in offense—we have no counterpart to Russell."

Kansas was beaten twice during the season, by Iowa State and Oklahoma A&M. But rival coaches still figure Chamberlain makes the Jayhawks the favorite.

Clutch Guy

St. Petersburg, Fla. (NEA)—The only Yankee in the top 10 American League pinch-hitters last season was Elston Howard, who had five hits in 12 chances.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

Phoenix, Ariz.—(NEA)—Spring stories of losing baseball clubs follow a pattern.

Front offices and managers try to compensate for what they lack by boosting guys who aren't ready.

So here at Phoenix's Municipal Stadium you find strapping Andre Rodgers, a reformed West Indian cricket player, the early phee-nom of the Giants.

Right now it looks like Rodgers—22, 6-5, 210—will open the season at shortstop, and a quick thought is that the New York club could be repeating for the third time the mistake first made by Leo Durocher in 1953.

That would be taking Daryl Spencer from the position he has played so well since breaking into organized baseball eight years ago. The Polo Grounds started to win last season when Spencer was installed at shortstop alongside Red Schoendienst. He does not hit the long ball often enough to play anywhere else, particularly third base, where he might wind up.

The thought also occurs here in the Valley of the Sun that young Rodgers might break into the National League easier at third, for there are sound appraisers who fault his range and hands at shortstop.

But at the moment Rodgers is the rage of the camp while Spencer, this far along in his career, has been given special batting lessons—while he worries about hitting enough to play third base where the big thump definitely is required.

Garry Schumacher, the old baseball writer who is the Polo Grounds' promotion man, goes so far as to tab Rodgers the Hank Aaron and Frank Robinson of 1957.

Not meaning to be harsh on friend Garry, but still rather fresh in mind is the build-up job he did on a fellow by the name of Clint Hartung, who now works in an oil field.

"Rodgers hits a homer every now and then that only Willie Mays could duplicate," says Schumacher, disdaining the Hartung reference.

"He is a flashing fielder with as good an arm as I've seen. He'll be a big ballplayer one day. Whether he can jump that far this year will have to be seen. He has the chance, and if he makes it we are a much better club right away."

"Take a good look at that guy out there," says Tom Sheehan, the one-time pitcher who is chief of scouts, his eyes squinting in the desert sun. "He's big and all athlete. He can be a Glenn Wright if all develops. It makes your own arm hurt just to watch him throw."

There are dissenting voices, however, among them those of Tom Greenwade, the scout who signed Gil Hodges for the Dodgers and Mickey Mantle for the Yankees. They point out that Rodgers starts on the wrong foot, etc.

There is the rather severe rap of one Texas League man who questions the lad's competitive ability.

All agree that Rodgers could be a pretty good hitter, but he came into baseball with little or no experience and has had only three years in the organized game, one in D, another in C and last season with the Double A Dallas club, for which he batted .260.

A consoling slant is that Daryl Spencer will do a more than adequate job if Andre Rodgers misses.

Meanwhile, listening to the fine gentlemen running the works, starting with Bill Rigney, you get the general idea that, for a month anyway, the Giants have something in the way of a chance.

15 Students Scored For Win Celebration

East Lansing, Mich., March 22 (AP)—Ten male students and five coeds were penalized today for a boisterous celebration last Saturday night of the Michigan State University basketball victory over Kentucky.

Seven male students were suspended for an indefinite period. This means they cannot attend classes during the spring term but can apply for readmission in the future.

Three other male students and five coeds were placed on strict disciplinary probation by the faculty committee on student conduct. This amounts to a ban on any social activity.

A crowd of nearly 1,000 students mobbed through the campus after they heard of the surprise Spartan basketball victory at Lexington, Ky. Some surged toward a women's dormitory shouting "We want panties," and some underthings were thrown out of windows by cooperative coeds.

Left No Doubt

St. Louis (NEA)—The two times Rogers Hornsby won the Triple Crown—in 1922 and 1925—he hit more than 400.

Shot in Escape Attempt

New York, March 22 (AP)—Fred Schoenfeld, 19-year-old laborer and ex-convict, was shot and wounded today when he fled from a station house after being booked on a charge of selling narcotics. Schoenfeld was standing in front of the desk in the station house, 118 Clinton street at about 1:30 a. m., when he ran out to the street. Detectives Stanley Weiner, Harold Kuhn and William Sihler, who arrested Schoenfeld earlier in his Manhattan home, gave chase. As Schoenfeld ran, the detectives said, he shouted, "you'll have to shoot me."

Warmer Weather Is Five-Day Outlook

Albany, N. Y., March 22 (AP)—The extended weather forecasts for New York state, prepared by the U. S. Weather Bureau, for the period from 7:30 p. m. today to 7:30 p. m. Wednesday: Eastern New York temperatures will be moderate and average 2 to 4 degrees above the seasonal expectancy, with no pronounced daily changes. Precipitation will continue generally light and average about 1/3 inches, with showers late Sunday and Monday, and again by midweek. Generally good conditions are expected for maple sap flow.

Western New York—Changeable weather is indicated with temperatures averaging a few degrees above normal. Fair and mild Saturday. Rain and turning cooler Sunday. Clearing and cool Monday. Increasing cloudiness and warmer Tuesday, rain Tuesday night and Wednesday. Followed by cooler. Total precipitation averaging 1/2 to 3/4 inch.

Temperature normals—Normal high daytime temperatures in upstate New York are now about 40 to 45. Overnight lows are 25-30.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK BY THE CLERK OF THE COURT, FREE AND INDEPENDENT TO:

LAWRENCE CODY, JR. NORMAN CODY and JOHN D. CODY

SEND GREETING:

Upon the petition of Lawrence Cody, as administrator of the Estate of Lucille Cody, deceased, of the County of Kingston, County of Ulster and State of New York.

You and each of you are hereby cited to show cause at a Surrogate's Court to be held in and for the County of Ulster, at the Surrogate's Office in the City of Kingston, on the 23rd day of April, 1957 next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, why the said Court should not approve the compromise and settlement of the cause of action now pending in the Supreme Court, Ulster County, in which the said Lawrence Cody as administrator of the goods, chattels and credits of Lucille Cody, deceased, brought against Charles W. Tucker for the wrongful death of the decedent and also for her conscious pain and suffering as a result of the said injuries she received on the 16th day of October, 1955 when she was struck from the automobile of the said Charles W. Tucker on Route 9W in the Town of Esopus, Ulster County, New York and why such Court should not fix and decree the payment of reasonable attorneys' fees and expenses from the proceeds of said settlements and claims, which the said Lucille Cody on account of her said injuries and to reimburse the said Lawrence Cody for the amount of the funeral and other expenses incurred by her because of the injuries to and death of the said Lucille Cody and determine the manner of the distribution of the residue of the estate and the proceeds received in settlement of said claim and cause of action and why the Surrogate should not hold such hearing as may be necessary and advisable in the matter and why the restrictions contained in the Letters of Administration heretofore issued to Lawrence Cody should not be removed upon the said administrator allowing him to file a bond in the amount of $5,000 and why the petitioner should not have such other and further relief as may be deemed necessary and proper in the premises.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF we have caused the seal of the said Surrogate's Court to be hereunto affixed. WITNESS: HON. CHARLES H. GAFFNEY, Surrogate of our said County, at the City of Kingston, the 20th day of March, 1957, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fifty-seven.

Wet Weather Is Outlook in Broad Areas of Nation

(By The Associated Press)

More wet weather was indicated today in broad areas in the eastern half of the country and in the northwest.

A low pressure system over the southeastern area produced precipitation from eastern Kansas and southern Iowa southward into Florida during the night.

Thunderstorms in Florida brought the heaviest falls of rain, with more than 1 1/2 inches at Orlando and nearly 1 inch at Daytona Beach. Moderate to heavy falls also were reported in parts of Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina.

Drizzle sprayed the northern part of the wet belt, with rain mixed with snow in parts of Missouri and Iowa. The rain spread eastward as far as Virginia early this morning and was expected to extend from the middle Mississippi valley eastward to the middle Atlantic coast states and southward through Tennessee to the south Atlantic coast.

52 Inches on Ground

Another major wet belt extended over much of the northwestern part of the country. Heavy snow fell in some sections, including 4 inches at Cedar City, Utah, and 3 inches at Douglas, Wyo. Snow on the ground at West Yellowstone, Mont., measured 52 inches, including 8 inches which fell in the last 24 hours.

Light rain sprinkled areas from northern California through western parts of Oregon and Washington. Rain or snow was the outlook for most of the Rockies and eastward into the western plains.

More Beautiful to live with...
Duraclean
For economy and convenience... have your upholstery and floor coverings Duracleaned by experts, right in your home. Watch the unusual care with which these craftsmen beautify your furnishings.
Duraclean means your fabric lasts longer because this modern, safe cleaning process avoids strong soaps and chemicals which so often harm the dyes or fabric. Longer life too because there is no wear, no breaking of fibers caused by machine scrubbing.
This patent protected service is recommended by America's leading furniture and department stores.

What Makes Duraclean "Different?"
It cleans by absorption!
Embedded dirt and grit are first removed by "deep suction." Many cleaning methods leave enough dirt-laden soap in your rugs and upholstery to cause "matting" or "rapid re-soiling." Duraclean avoids this.
The mild aerated Duraclean foam loosens and absorbs sticky soil and grime, holding this grime in suspension above the surface until removed.
No inconvenient Duracleaned fabrics are dry in just a few hours. Special ingredients re-enliven wool fibers. Rug pile unmat and rises. Colors revive. Your fabrics are left clean, fresh, revived... your home is more beautiful to live with.
Duraproof—if you wish, you may at the same time have your floor coverings, upholstery, clothing or furs Duraproofed. You have 4 years protection against damage from marks and carpet beetles. Also protects against mildew. The annual cost is lower than applying less effective moth solutions yourself. Have your fabrics Duraproofed today—before damage develops.

Nehru Party Wins By Narrow Margin
New Delhi, India, March 22 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru's Congress party won a narrow lead—but no majority—today in the Assembly election for Orissa state in eastern India. A local party of former princes and big landlords took second place.
Tradition played a big part in the voting. Ganatantra Parishad, the local party, told the peasant voters in effect: "We have always ruled you. We still should rule you. Vote for us."
Many peasants obeyed. Of the 140 seats in the state Assembly, the Congress party won 56, Ganatantra Parishad 51, Praja Socialist 11, Communists 9, Independents 7 and others 6.
In the 1952 election, Nehru's party won 67 votes, Ganatantra Parishad 51, Independents 24, Socialists 10, Communists 7, and others 1.

Safety Is Theme Of Talk Heard By IM Thursday

"Safety is everybody's business in the industrial plant of today, not just the business of the plant safety department," said Russell DeReamer, consultant of personnel practices, General Electric Company, when he addressed the membership of the Kingston Industrial Management Club at the YMCA Thursday night.
The speaker pinpointed any lack of regard for the safety of the individual worker on the part of management as distinct evidence of a wrongful lack of regard for the individual worker as a person. Recognition of the individual's safety problems by his plant supervisor, Mr. DeReamer said, is a necessity in a smooth running business.

have shown that the concept of "accident proneness" has very little basis, the speaker stressed that the stimulation of safety ideas is an educational process. It is the foreman's job to create safety awareness.
"Too often the seriousness of safety rules and safety signs are not as fully respected as they should be," Mr. DeReamer said. As an example he mentioned the neglect of some workers in not wearing safety glasses in zones where they are required, the "tying down" of safety devices, and horseplay on the job.

Couple Indicted
St. Joseph, Mo., March 22 (AP)—Charles A. Peters, St. Joseph real estate man, his wife, and Kenneth Kurz, an employee, were indicted by a grand jury yesterday on charges they tried to cheat the city out of $2,589,000 left to it for recreational projects. The grand jury suggested Missouri's Bar Association investigate some of the attorneys involved in an attempt to break the will of George Bodé Jr., uncle of Mrs. Peters.
